Johnson, Goldwater Due To Meet Today

WASHINGTON (AP)—Against a backdrop of harsh words, Republican presidential nominee Barry Goldwater talks with President Johnson today about steps "to avoid any inflating of trouble" over civil rights in the presidential campaign.

"I don't want to exploit the campaign in any way that will cause disorder," the Arizona senator said Thursday night.

He talked with newsmen just after he had voted against Johnson's $947.5-million program to combat poverty. It passed 62 to 33.

Goldwater said he is not going to propose a formal agreement with Johnson to keep the explosive side of civil rights out of politics in the months ahead. And he said he does not want to discuss the new Civil Rights act, which he opposed in the Senate.

What he wants, Goldwater said, is a "broad discussion on the campaign and what we both can do to avoid any inflating of trouble."

Goldwater sought the White House session.

To prepare for it, he called a huddle of his research advisers for a discussion of the message he will carry to the President.

Goldwater has said he wants to give the civil rights law a chance to work, even though he voted against it on grounds its sections on public accommodations and equal employment are unconstitutional.

Goldwater has, in effect, dared Johnson to make an issue of civil rights. Hours before he won the Republican nomination, the Arizona senator said in San Francisco:

"Having opposed civil rights until this year, let him make an issue of it. I'll just repeat back to him the thousands of words he has spoken."

"Lyndon Johnson is the biggest faker in the United States," Goldwater added. "Let him make an issue of it. He's the phoniest individual that ever came around."

Despite his criticism of the new law, Goldwater has declared himself "unalterably opposed to discrimination of any sort," and has said he will not inject civil rights tensions into the campaign.

Senate OKs Antipoverty Legislation

Approval Given By Nearly 2-1 Vote on Issue

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Johnson's bill to carry out his war on poverty has won Senate approval by nearly a 2-1 margin.

The battleground now shifts to the House, where the Rules Committee is expected to vote early next week on a similar proposal to be considered the following week.

The measure had come under heavy attack from Sen. Barry Goldwater of Arizona, the Republican presidential nominee, as a "hodgepodge of programs treating only the results, not the causes, of poverty."

"It seems designed to achieve the single objective of securing votes," he said in a minority report on the bill.

Although Goldwater did not enter into the two days of Senate debate on the measure, a majority of the 33 Republican senators joined him in voting against it.

On the 62-33 roll call Thursday night that sent the bill to the House, 52 Democrats voted for and 11 against passage. The Republican line-up was 10 for and 22 against. Sen. Peter H. Dominick, R-Colo., the only absent GOP member, was announced as against passage.

Southern Democrats split about evenly. Before the $947.5 million bill was passed, two states rights amendments were adopted giving governors a veto over establishment of some of the proposed projects in their states.

A third, which would have let governors veto aid for community action programs, was defeated by a single vote.

Sen. Frank J. Lausche, D-Ohio, also won adoption of an amendment shaving $15 million off the total originally authorized for the first year. This was cut from $50 million proposed for loans and grants to combat poverty in rural areas.

But the many-sided bill emerged from the Senate substantially intact.

The bill would authorize $412.5 million for programs designed to increase the education, training and work experience of young men and women. Included is a provision for establishment of a job corps in which youths in the 16-21-year age bracket could enroll and be assigned to conservation camps or resident training centers.

Authority also is provided for the government to finance part-time employment for college students and for youths who want to complete their secondary schooling or take vocational training.

Another major part of the measure would authorize appropriation of $315 million to pay up to 90 per cent of the cost of financing anti-poverty programs carried out at the community level.

These community action programs could include employment, job training, vocational rehabilitation, housing, welfare and special remedial and other educational aid for low-income families and individuals. Provision also is made for adult education.

The bill includes special assistance to poverty stricken farmers and very small businesses, aid for migrant farm workers, and establishment of a corps of volunteer workers, to be paid $50 a month, to serve in the over-all anti-poverty program.

Lausche Opposes Antipoverty Bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — The $947.5 million antipoverty bill, passed 62-33 by the Senate Thursday, had the blessing of Sen. Stephen M. Young, D-Ohio, but Ohio's other Democratic senator, Frank J. Lausche, opposed it firmly.

Lausche was unsuccessful in trying to slash a $50 million authorization for several farm loan programs in the bill to $25 million, but he did get approval of another amendment.

The Senate approved 49-43 the Ohioan's amendment to knock out of the bill authority to give credit to non-profit corporations to enable poor farm families to acquire farm land.

Racial Displays Appear on Ebb

NEW YORK (AP)—Peace has returned to two riot-torn Negro sections of New York City, but as jeering white youths hurled missiles at Negro and white demonstrators outside police headquarters late Thursday night.

Police inspector Henry Yack, 59, was hit in the right eye by a stone. He was held in a hospital overnight.

An egg narrowly missed Police Commissioner Michael J. Murphy. He was cursed by the whites as they threw eggs at him.

None of the pickets protesting alleged police brutality was hit.

The antipicket crowd swelled to 1,500 as the Manhattan demonstration progressed. But only a fraction of them—mostly teen-agers from the Italian-American neighborhood around headquarters, participated in the jeering and barrages. Firecrackers also were hurled.

The pickets, sponsored by the Congress of Racial Equality (CORE), were shielded from the barrages by wooden barriers set up by police to hold the whites out of range.

After three hours of picketing, the CORE demonstrators were escorted in three groups to nearby subway stations. They were trailed all the way by hostile residents of the lower East Side neighborhood, who continued to hurl missiles at both police and pickets. A policeman was hit on the shoulder with a rock, treated at hospital and released.

Police arrested seven whites who were in an auto from which an anti-Negro placard had been flung. Six men and youths were charged with disorderly conduct. One boy was charged with juvenile delinquency and released in custody of his parents.

The seven were the first whites arrested since racial disorders broke out in the city Saturday night.

Peace returned to Harlem in Manhattan and almost complete peace to the predominantly Negro Bedford-Stuyvesant section of Brooklyn, after five nights of rioting, gunfire, looting, vandalism and hundreds of arrests.

Dems Ready For Powwow

WASHINGTON (AP)—Democratic officials have picked House Speaker John W. McCormack of Massachusetts to be permanent chairman of the party's 1964 nominating convention.

Rep. Carl Albert of Oklahoma, House Democratic leader, is to be chairman of the Platform Committee for the convention opening Aug. 24 in Atlantic City.

The Convention Arrangements Committee is expected to give formal approval to the choices at a meeting here next Wednesday.

National Chairman John M. Bailey announced Thursday he would recommend appointment of McCormack and Albert.

Bailey also said he would recommend that the Platform Committee hold three days of meetings in Washington starting Aug. 17 before moving its proceedings to Atlantic City.

Bit's biggest worry was having his horse, Dandy Cody, shod. Dandy has worn out 28 sets since the start of the trip, 2½ years ago.

Bit, a former bull rider on the rodeo circuit, spent four months with his brother in Indianapolis en route.

Asian Parley Idea Rapped

Bonn To Retain Ties to America

PARIS (AP) — President Charles de Gaulle's call for an international conference to bring peace to Indochina and his new challenge to United States leadership of the West drew cold rebuffs today from Washington and West Germany.

American officials brushed aside as wholly unacceptable De Gaulle's proposal for a new 14-nation conference — with the United States, Russia, Red China and France as the principals — to settle the woes of South and North Viet Nam, Laos and Cambodia.

They also rejected De Gaulle's contention that a military solution in South Viet Nam is impossible. They said the United States cannot consider another Indochina conference until a new military balance is created in South Viet Nam.

The French leader's sharp notification to Washington that its postwar dominance of the West had ended hardened the impression among U.S. diplomats that the rift between De Gaulle and the United States is beyond healing.

In Bonn, De Gaulle's reassertion of his design for an independent Europe based on French-West German political coordination also drew stern rejections.

Latin Envoys Continue Anti-Castro Conference

WASHINGTON (AP)—The inter-American foreign ministers arranged their first closed session today to consider an alternate proposal for ending relations with the Communist regime in Cuba.

There were indications the meeting might continue into the weekend before full agreement is reached on the scope of action to be taken. The 20-nation conference had been scheduled to end today. It started Tuesday to consider sanctions against Cuba for its efforts to overthrow the Venezuelan government.

Before the conference was a proposal by Brazil to declare that none of the members of the Organization of American States should have relations with Cuba.

Primarily a change in wording rather than meaning, it was put forth as an alternative to one calling for a break in diplomatic relations, as requested jointly by Colombia, Costa Rica and Panama with Venezuela's support.

The psychological effect sought by Brazil would be to avoid the appearance of direct action against the four countries that still maintain Cuban diplomatic ties—Bolivia, Chile, Mexico and Uruguay.

Like the three-nation proposal, it would be binding if adopted and would affect the future policy of all member nations in regard to resuming relations with Cuba.

Despite the change in emphasis, Chile and Mexico were expected to vote against the proposal and Bolivia and Uruguay at least to abstain. It was uncertain how many other nations would support the alternative.

The Brazilian proposal dealt only with diplomatic ties and did not go into a cutoff of trade and maritime and air transportation to Cuba, which were included in the three-nation resolution. These matters are to be considered later.

DEPARTURE NEAR — Circleville's Ohio National Guard unit is all set to depart at 10 p. m. today for its annual two-week summer training program at Camp Grayling, Mich. Ready to throw their duffel bags into an army 2½-ton truck are, from the left, Larry F. Lemley, weapons platoon sergeant; Wayne E. Dunkle, a gunner in a 105 millimeter recoilless section; and M-Sgt. Chester Iery, local unit administrator. The Circleville unit, composed of two platoons of Co. A of the 37th Division's Third Brigade, will send 66 men to Camp Grayling. The infantry company is commanded by Capt. Vinton D. Dorsey. Five members from here left Wednesday as an advanced guard for the Michigan encampment.

Saigonese Shrug at War

They Make Poor Viet Nam Soldiers

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP)—"We don't try to recruit troops in Saigon because they don't make good marines," says a U.S. adviser to the Vietnamese marine corps. "The South Vietnamese country boys are stronger, they're more susceptible to discipline, and they make better fighters."

A U.S. civilian official said: "If we could persuade the Saigonese that this war was worth fighting, we'd have won half the battle."

A U.S. Ranger adviser, a West Point man, said: "With decent leadership, Vietnamese troops can do wonders. Without dedicated officers from Saigon, they're lost."

And another adviser said: "There's a lot of talk about the Vietnamese people being weary of the war. People who talk that way should have a look at some little self-defense corps post in the heart of Viet Cong territory that's been holding out for days and months and years without a whimper."

"There's a lot of war weariness all right—in Saigon."

"The weariest types you'll ever come across are sitting behind desks in Saigon, where they haven't heard a shot fired in anger in 10 years."

By and large, such criticism has not been directed at Maj. Gen. Nguyen Khanh, the Vietnamese premier. Khanh has liberalized pay and decoration policies for his troops, tried to improve morale generally, and has set an example by visiting the men under fire. Some of his officers have followed the example.

But Saigon, a city of nearly two million inhabitants, about one-seventh of South Viet Nam's population, remains generally indifferent.

The city's uproarious night life continues at full tilt. Juvenile delinquency and the crime rate are soaring.

Ohio Legion Set For Convention

CINCINNATI (AP)—A resolution calling for legislation to bar permanently from citizenship and a return to the United States, any citizen who renounces his citizenship and leaves the country will be considered by the American Legion of Ohio.

The resolution will be among a record 65 resolutions taken up at the Legion's annual convention opening today. It will be introduced by the Fourth District of southwestern Ohio and stems from the case of Lee Harvey Oswald, accused assassin of President Kennedy.

Other resolutions will urge the state to set up required courses on "Americanism vs. the evils of Communism" in public schools and state universities, and one that would permit voluntary bible reading or nonsectarian prayer in public schools.

FBI Makes First Rights Act Arrests

GREENWOOD, Miss. (AP)—The FBI has made its first arrests under the public accommodations sections of the new Civil Rights Act.

Agents of the bureau charged three Greenwood white men with a conspiracy designed to keep a Negro from going to a downtown movie theatre.

The three men, Willie Amos Belk, 47, a plumber; his son, Jimmy Allen Belk, 19, and Sam Allen Shafer Jr., 40, a Belk employee, posted $1,000 bonds before U.S. Commissioner W. O. Luckett at nearby Clarksdale following their arrest Thursday.

The FBI charged the three with "unlawfully conspiring to injure, oppress, threaten and intimidate" Silas McGhee, 21, of Greenwood, "in the free exercise of his right to full and equal enjoyment of a motion picture house, the Leflore Theatre."

The theatre management declined comment.

The FBI gave this report: On July 16, McGhee staggered into the Greenwood FBI office, bleeding from head wounds and suffering from shock.

McGhee, a staff worker with the Student Non-Violent Coordinating Committee, said three men in a pickup truck forced him at the point of a gun to accompany them.

He said they asked him if he had been to the movie the previous night. When he replied yes he was beaten with a pipe and a board.

Union Aides Admit Property Damage

CINCINNATI (AP)—Two union members who admitted knocking out a power transformer are being held in jail, pending sentencing on charges of malicious destruction of property.

Ernest N. Wagner, 46, Cincinnati, and Edwin Wocher Jr., 25, Hamilton, pleaded guilty Thursday in Common Pleas Court.

They said they threw a chain on a Cincinnati Gas & Electric Co. transformer April 16, causing a temporary power failure.

They said they thought the failure would close the Virginia-Carolina Chemical Co. plant, whose employees were on strike at the time. The International Chemical Workers Union offered to pay CG&E for $354 damages.

55-Year Marriage Ends With $16 Million Award

LOS ANGELES (AP)—For 55 years of marriage, Mrs. Ednah Race Capron testified, she had to make many of her own clothes, listened to her husband complain every day "of all the unpleasant things that ever happened," and was denied a nurse's care when she was bedridden last year with a broken leg.

Today, at the age of 74, Mrs. Capron has an interlocutory divorce decree and a $16 million settlement, believed to be the largest ever.

Mrs. Capron, granted the decree in superior court Thursday, charged cruelty against her husband, multi-millionaire George H. Capron, 79. She said he told her last year, when she broke her leg, that he would give a million dollars if someone would take her off his hands.

At the time, she testified, she didn't know he had even a million dollars, much less the $30 million her attorneys discovered after she filed suit for divorce. Her husband had always kept his riches a secret from her, she said.

Mrs. Capron testified to a life of frugal living, dating from her marriage to Capron in 1909, when he was a young baseball player. She said she was denied servants, though they lived in an $85,000 home in Newport Beach, Calif.

Over the years, attorneys said, Capron built up an estate worth $30 million, chiefly through property trades.

Under terms of the divorce settlement, Mrs. Capron received the Newport Beach home, a $180,000 apartment house and 860 acres of land at Laguna Niguel, a valuable residential development south of Laguna Beach on the southern California coast.

Capron, who reportedly wants to keep the land, was given an option to purchase it back with a cashier's check for $16 million between Jan. 30 and Feb. 28.

One of the highest divorce settlements previously recorded was that granted Greg Sherwood Dodge, divorced wife of the late Horace E. Dodge Jr. Her attorney said she received $9 million.

High School Success Said No Indicator

PITTSBURGH, Pa. (AP)—If your child gets straight A's in high school, earns three letters in sports, edits the school newspaper and excels in other activities, don't get too excited about it.

Success in high school, study conducted by a University of Chicago professor shows, has nothing to do with success in later life.

In fact, said Dr. Allison Davis Thursday, "the family does far more to promote success than high school."

Davis told a University of Pittsburgh group that a study of 376 students showed:

There is little or no relation between good grades and later financial success.

There is little or no connection between good grades and the ability to accept family and home responsibilities.

There is no relation between social activities in school "and anything at all in adult life."

Dinosaur's Remains Unearthed in Dakota

MARMARTH, N.D. (AP)—University of North Dakota geologists are trying to dig up the remains of a dinosaur believed to be 80 million years old.

The partially exposed skeleton of a triceratops was found by a student mapping an area of southwestern North Dakota last summer. The beast appeared to be about 20 feet long and 10 feet high, said Prof. F. D. Holland.

Oil Drilling Is Eyed at Williamsport

Geomac, a Granville geophysical consulting firm exploring for oil in Pickaway County, is conducting a drilling operation in the Williamsport community, according to spokesmen there.

Williamsport officials said drilling equipment has been moved to the Mary Snyder farm east of the village. Operations reportedly are to begin immediately.

At least three other test wells have been drilled in Pickaway County by Geomac. Two of them were in the Darbyville vicinity.

According to Geomac spokesmen, the drilling here represents a long range oil exploration project by the firm in this county.

Several drilling firms, in addition to Geomac, have leased large amounts of acreage here in the continuing search for oil in Ohio.

Browns Eye Undrafted Xavier Star

HIRAM, Ohio (AP) — Don Stupica of Xavier University, who was passed over in the National Football League draft, is fighting an uphill battle against stiff competition for a job in the Cleveland Browns' defensive backfield.

If he makes the grade, he will be following in the footsteps of Larry Benz, who was signed as a free agent by the Browns last year.

Benz also had been passed over in the draft. He was not big or particularly fast, but he got the job done and soon attracted attention of the coaches and writers. Before the first exhibition game he had won a starting post as a safety man.

When Head Coach Blanton Collier heard from Stupica he remembered Benz and decided to see what Stupica could do. The coach was told by coaches at Xavier that Stupica was "tough enough and smart enough. Speed is the only question."

Don showed good speed at last week's rookie camp, when he was clocked at 4.8 for the 40-yard dash. He survived the first squad cut and is being tested at both safety and corner back.

Tarlton Grocery Victim of Vandals

The Pickaway County Sheriff's office yesterday received a report of several recent vandalism at a Tarlton grocery.

The reports came from Mac Wolfe, owner of the Tarlton store. He said on three different occasions someone had entered the store, although nothing seemed to be missing.

On one occasion, about three dozen eggs were broken inside the store, Wolfe said. Entry was made each time through a back window.

Two juveniles were questioned by deputies concerning the report.

Appalachia Plan Slated For More Panel Action

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House Public Works Committee meets today to act on President Johnson's $1 billion Appalachia program.

The full committee met for the first time Thursday on the revised bill, introduced in the house last Monday, and completed work on only 7 of its 39 pages.

All Republican attempts to amend the measure, both in the special subcommittee which approved it and in the full committee, failed.

The GOP fight, however, did slow action by the committee, which had hoped to approve the program Thursday.

Rep. William C. Cramer, R-

Fla., a committee member, charged that Democratic leaders are bulldozing the measure toward House passage. "We had a gentlemen's agreement that there would be no railroad on this bill," he said. "That agreement has been violated."

Cramer said GOP attempts to amend the bill in subcommittee were cut off so he insisted on a word-by-word reading of the measure in the full committee, a procedure which enabled the Republicans to offer amendments.

The administration contends the program is needed to help West Virginia and parts of 10 other states recover from economic stagnation. Republicans contend the need for the program in many counties has not been proved.

The new bill would authorize an $840 million highway construction program in Appalachia and these two-year ceilings on spending for other projects:

Mine restoration, $21.5 million; construction and operation of health facilities, $69 million; pastureland improvement, $15 million; timber development, $5 million; water resources study, $5 million; vocational educational facilities, $16 million; sewage treatment works, $6 million; expansion of existing federal programs, $90 million, and administrative expenses, $7.7 million.

In addition to West Virginia these states would be affected by the program: Alabama, Georgia, Kentucky, Maryland, North Carolina, South Carolina, Ohio, Pennsylvania, Tennessee and Virginia.

Rhodes Says Ohio Opposes Racial Curbs

WASHINGTON (AP) — Gov. James A. Rhodes of Ohio told Secretary of Commerce Luther H. Hodges today that discriminatory practices, when based upon race, color, religion, national origin or ancestry, are harmful to the economic and moral growth of the state of Ohio.

Rhodes was here to attend a meeting of midwest governors and senators on methods of obtaining more government contracts for the midwest.

The state of Ohio, Rhodes told Hodges, has by statute and executive order declared that discrimination in employment based upon race, color, religion, national origin or ancestry shall not prevail.

It is an established fact, Rhodes said, that there have been thousands who look to Ohio as the state of opportunity. He said this is true of both employers and workers.

Rhodes said that experience with the laws against discrimination, supported by his executive order of last year, "permits me to repeat my pledge to direct the full support of my administrative staff towards equal opportunity for all of Ohio's citizens."

closely integrated alliance with the United States and ultimately partnership between a unified Europe and America.

However, former Chancellor Konrad Adenauer, De Gaulle's co-architect of postwar French-West German cooperation, said he agreed with the French leader's statements regarding various changes in the world's political structure.

De Gaulle told his semiannual news conference Thursday: "The division of the world between two camps led by Washington and Moscow no longer corresponds to the new world situation."

"We must however maintain the alliance with America because in the North Atlantic, both Europe and America are mutually interested as long as the Soviet menace persists. But the reasons for our subordination to America are being eliminated one after the other."

West German officials said "subordination" did not describe relations between Europe and the United States in the Atlantic Alliance.

U.S. officials were irritated by De Gaulle's likening of Western Europe's growing independence to the weakening of Soviet control over the Communist bloc. They said that while the Soviet Union followed a deliberate policy of centralized control of the Communist world, U.S. policy since World War II was dedicated to building up Western Europe to a position of partnership in the Atlantic community.

Robber, 16, Surrenders

DAYTON, Ohio (AP)—A 16-year-old Dayton boy robbed an east Dayton pharmacy and kidnapped an employee at gunpoint Thursday night but police were able to talk him into surrendering a short time later and no one was injured.

Authorities said the boy entered Ridgway's Pharmacy, pointed a rifle at the employee, Paul Slusher, 26, and demanded money.

Slusher handed him $127 from the cash register. The youth then ordered Slusher to walk out of the store ahead of him.

Two detectives in a squad car spotted the two near a park and radioed for more officers. Within a short time the youth and Slusher were surrounded.

Officers said after considerable persuasion, the youth dropped the rifle, a carbine, and surrendered.

PRINCE RUPERT, B.C. (AP)

—Robert Gilroy and Max Portz feared certain death if they struck out in the glacier-fed waters of the Iskut River, so they huddled, drenched and bitterly cold, for eight days on the floats of their overturned aircraft.

They told about it Thursday following their rescue. Gilroy spoke by telephone from Terrace, 70 miles inland from this north coast city and 200 miles south of the spot where their plane hit the river July 14.

The two prospectors were returning to their campsite at the junction of the Iskut and Ihini rivers. They tried for a landing close to the site, trying to avoid the risk of taxiing around snags.

"We hit a mud bank," Gilroy said.

The plane floated downstream for a mile and a half and stopped upside down on a sand

Ohio Solons Argue Utility Tax Idea

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—A 1963 bill changing public utility tax collection and distribution continues to bring differing interpretations from two state legislative leaders.

Sen. Frank W. King, the Toledo Democrat who is Senate Minority Leader, argued in a letter to House Speaker Roger Cloud, R-Logan, that the bill is costing "local relief areas their share of three-quarters" of the 1963 excise tax.

Cloud disagreed, saying this year's distributions will be higher than either 1962 or 1963.

Slightly more than half the money involved is earmarked for city and county relief.

Boy's Assailant Given Sentence

JACKSON, Ohio (AP)—A 29-year-old man, facing charges in the beating of a three-year-old boy, has been sentenced to a year in the Cincinnati Workhouse for violating probation rules.

Probation was revoked Thursday for Minor Davey Leach, convicted in 1960 of non-support of his children.

The beaten boy, Bernard Blanchard, is reported in critical condition in Holzer Hospital in Gallipolis. He is the son of Mrs. Joyce Wells, a friend of Leach's.

Common Pleas Judge Thomas Mitchell, who revoked Leach's probation because he went into the armed service and did not notify authorities of his whereabouts, said the grand jury which indicted Leach for the beating will be recalled if the child dies.

Benz also had been passed over in the draft. He was not big or particularly fast, but he got the job done and soon attracted attention of the coaches and writers. Before the first exhibition game he had won a starting post as a safety man.

When Head Coach Blanton Collier heard from Stupica he remembered Benz and decided to see what Stupica could do. The coach was told by coaches at Xavier that Stupica was "tough enough and smart enough. Speed is the only question."

Don showed good speed at last week's rookie camp, when he was clocked at 4.8 for the 40-yard dash. He survived the first squad cut and is being tested at both safety and corner back.

Tarleton Grocery Victim of Vandals

The Pickaway County Sheriff's office yesterday received a report of several recent vandalism at a Tarleton grocery.

The reports came from Mac Wolfe, owner of the Tarleton store. He said on three different occasions someone had entered the store, although nothing seemed to be missing.

On one occasion, about three dozen eggs were broken inside the store, Wolfe said. Entry was made each time through a back window.

Two juveniles were questioned by deputies concerning the report.

Appalachia Plan Slated For More Panel Action

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House Public Works Committee meets today to act on President Johnson's $1 billion Appalachia program.

The full committee met for the first time Thursday on the revised bill, introduced in the house last Monday, and completed work on only 7 of its 39 pages.

All Republican attempts to amend the measure, both in the special subcommittee which approved it and in the full committee, failed.

Rep. William C. Cramer, R-

Fla., a committee member, charged that Democratic leaders are bulldozing the measure toward House passage. "We had a gentlemen's agreement that there would be no railroad on this bill," he said. "That agreement has been violated."

Cramer said GOP attempts to amend the bill in subcommittee were cut off so he insisted on a word-by-word reading of the measure in the full committee, a procedure which enabled the Republicans to offer amendments.

The administration contends the program is needed to help West Virginia and parts of 10 other states recover from economic stagnation. Republicans contend the need for the program in many counties has not been proved.

The new bill would authorize an $840 million highway construction program in Appalachia and these two-year ceilings on spending for other projects:

Mine restoration, $21.5 million; construction and operation of health facilities, $69 million; pastureland improvement, $15 million; timber development, $5 million; water resources study, $5 million; vocational educational facilities, $16 million; sewage treatment works, $6 million; expansion of existing federal programs, $90 million, and administrative expenses, $7.7 million.

In addition to West Virginia these states would be affected by the program: Alabama, Georgia, Kentucky, Maryland, North Carolina, South Carolina, Ohio, Pennsylvania, Tennessee and Virginia.

Rhodes Says Ohio Opposes Racial Curbs

WASHINGTON (AP) — Gov. James A. Rhodes of Ohio told Secretary of Commerce Luther H. Hodges today that discriminatory practices, when based upon race, color, religion, national origin or ancestry, are harmful to the economic and moral growth of the state of Ohio.

Rhodes was here to attend a meeting of midwest governors and senators on methods of obtaining more government contracts for the midwest.

The state of Ohio, Rhodes told Hodges, has by statute and executive order declared that discrimination in employment based upon race, color, religion, national origin or ancestry shall not prevail.

It is an established fact, Rhodes said, that there have been thousands who look to Ohio as the state of opportunity. He said this is true of both employers and workers.

Rhodes said that experience with the laws against discrimination, supported by his executive order of last year, "permits me to repeat my pledge to direct the full support of my administrative staff towards equal opportunity for all of Ohio's citizens."

closely integrated alliance with the United States and ultimately partnership between a unified Europe and America.

However, former Chancellor Konrad Adenauer, De Gaulle's co-architect of postwar French-West German cooperation, said he agreed with the French leader's statements regarding various changes in the world's political structure.

De Gaulle told his semiannual news conference Thursday: "The division of the world between two camps led by Washington and Moscow no longer corresponds to the new world situation."

"We must however maintain the alliance with America because in the North Atlantic, both Europe and America are mutually interested as long as the Soviet menace persists. But the reasons for our subordination to America are being eliminated one after the other."

West German officials said "subordination" did not describe relations between Europe and the United States in the Atlantic Alliance.

U.S. officials were irritated by De Gaulle's likening of Western Europe's growing independence to the weakening of Soviet control over the Communist bloc. They said that while the Soviet Union followed a deliberate policy of centralized control of the Communist world, U.S. policy since World War II was dedicated to building up Western Europe to a position of partnership in the Atlantic community.

Robber, 16, Surrenders

DAYTON, Ohio (AP)—A 16-year-old Dayton boy robbed an east Dayton pharmacy and kidnapped an employee at gunpoint Thursday night but police were able to talk him into surrendering a short time later and no one was injured.

Authorities said the boy entered Ridgway's Pharmacy, pointed a rifle at the employee, Paul Slusher, 26, and demanded money.

Slusher handed him $127 from the cash register. The youth then ordered Slusher to walk out of the store ahead of him.

Two detectives in a squad car spotted the two near a park and radioed for more officers. Within a short time the youth and Slusher were surrounded.

Officers said after considerable persuasion, the youth dropped the rifle, a carbine, and surrendered.

Sourdoughs Stuck 8 Days On Brink of Icy Waters

PRINCE RUPERT, B.C. (AP) —Robert Gilroy and Max Portz feared certain death if they struck out in the glacier-fed waters of the Iskut River, so they huddled, drenched and bitterly cold, for eight days on the floats of their overturned aircraft.

They told about it Thursday following their rescue. Gilroy spoke by telephone from Terrace, 70 miles inland from the north coast city and 200 miles south of the spot where their plane hit the river July 14.

The two prospectors were returning to their campsite at the junction of the Iskut and Ihini rivers. They tried for a landing close to the site, trying to avoid the risk of taxiing around snags.

"We hit a mud bank," Gilroy said.

The plane floated downstream for a mile and a half and stopped upside down on a sand bar. Gilroy, 39, and Portz, 48, clambered onto the floats and there they remained through almost continuous rain for eight days.

They had nothing to eat. The Iskut was about three-quarters of a mile wide, its water close to 30 degrees.

"It would have meant death in two minutes if we had tried to strike out for shore," Gilroy said.

"We counted as many as 14 planes flying over. That was the worst part of it."

A search was sparked Tuesday after Terrace pilot Doug Chappel flew supplies into their camp, found it deserted and noted the last entry in their diary was July 14.

They were spotted Wednesday, picked up and flown to Terrace by way of a mining camp and Stewart, B.C.

Ohio Solons Argue Utility Tax Idea

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—A 1963 bill changing public utility tax collection and distribution continues to bring differing interpretations from two state legislative leaders.

Sen. Frank W. King, the Toledo Democrat who is Senate Minority Leader, argued in a letter to House Speaker Roger Cloud, R-Logan, that the bill is costing "local relief areas their share of three-quarters" of the 1963 excise tax.

Cloud disagreed, saying this year's distributions will be higher than either 1962 or 1963.

Slightly more than half the money involved is earmarked for city and county relief.

Other traffic violators arrested by city police and paying fines to the court included Wallace Ryder, 29, of 311½ Northridge Road; $12 and costs for speeding 47 miles per hour in a 35 mile zone.

State Highway Patrol cases were:

John Porter, 27, Columbus, who was fined $30 and costs for driving without an operator's license.

Boy's Assailant Given Sentence

JACKSON, Ohio (AP)—A 20-year-old man, facing charges in the beating of a three-year-old boy, has been sentenced to a year in the Cincinnati Workhouse for violating probation rules.

Probation was revoked Thursday for Minor Davey Leach, convicted in 1960 of non-support of his children.

The beaten boy, Bernard Blanchard, is reported in critical condition in Holzer Hospital in Gallipolis. He is the son of Mrs. Joyce Wells, a friend of Leach's.

Common Pleas Judge Thomas Mitchell, who revoked Leach's probation because he went into the armed service and did not notify authorities of his whereabouts, said the grand jury which indicted Leach for the beating will be recalled if the child dies.

The World Today

By James Marlow

WASHINGTON (AP) — Charles De Gaulle got stuck with an idea; now he's reworking it. The last thing he wants to be is ignored; but he's being ignored.

The French president Thursday proposed at his second news conference of 1964 the neutralization of all Southeast Asia, including Viet Nam. It was an old idea.

He had proposed it at his first news conference of 1964 last January. The United States brushed off the idea then. It's brushing it off now.

The trouble was that 10 years ago 14 nations at Geneva reached an agreement supposed to keep Southeast Asia peaceful. It's been anything but.

Washington's view was, and is, that Red China and the North Vietnamese broke the agreement. So why think a new agreement would be observed?

France had held Indochina as a colony since the 19th century and showed no signs of granting independence until some Indochinese got fed up.

Some of them, Communist-led under Ho Chi Minh, fought the French 7 1/2 years and finally wrecked them in 1953.

This was humiliation for the French who had to be bailed out in two world wars. Now under De Gaulle, they aspire to world leadership again.

The Geneva Agreement divided Viet Nam into North and South Viet Nam, with Chi Minh still in charge in the north. The French pulled out.

The North Vietnamese decided to take over South Viet Nam, which needed help to survive. The United States stepped in and has been helping out since.

It seems clear from this history that if there was a new agreement and the United States pulled out, the North Vietnamese wouldn't let peace last long.

This time—adding a new touch—De Gaulle wants the United States, France, Russia and Red China to guarantee the peace.

Ohio Solon Urges Soviet Wheat Probe

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. William H. Harsha, R-Ohio, has urged the suspension of U.S. wheat shipments to Russia pending an investigation of reports that the American wheat is being transhipped to Cuba.

Harsha said Thursday that a vigorous investigation should be conducted by the United States government, independent of any action by the State Department, to ascertain whether or not any U.S. wheat has, in fact, been shipped to Cuba.

De Gaulle's proposals on Southeast Asia suggest he can't reconcile himself to the thought that France should, or must, keep its nose out of Asia permanently.

It is part of the pattern of his mind. He wouldn't accept a nuclear test and treaty, insisting instead that France must build its own nuclear arsenal.

At the same time he wants a close tie-up with Germany. But this wouldn't be on an equal partnership basis if France had nuclear weapons and Germany didn't.

And if West Germany tried to build the Russians would go through the ceiling. And so would De Gaulle, probably.

The Frenchman seeks a kind of French-German alliance that would dominate their smaller neighbors. But German Chancellor Erhard wants no part of it.

He knows West Germany is too close to Russia for safety and wishes to have the protection of the United States.

De Gaulle wants that protection but apparently wishes he didn't.

Abe Lincoln Is Star of World's Fair

NEW YORK (AP)—The individual star of the World's Fair is none other than Abraham Lincoln.

Some audiences he holds in spellbound silence. Others he sets to cheering wildly.

People go away from his performances in awe with praise and such exclamations as "Stupendous!" "Tremendous!" and "Most impressive and inspiring." Many return time and again.

Lincoln, seen as the feature attraction of the Illinois Pavilion, is the creation of the Walt Disney organization.

He is a new type of animated figure so lifelike many find it hard to believe he isn't really real. He fits the exact description of Lincoln as to face and figure, dress, speech and mannerisms.

After dramatic introductory music and other material, the stage curtains part before a hushed audience to reveal the figure sitting in center stage in a high-backed chair.

There is seldom the slightest sound from the audiences—except for cheers. These come with a roar at the end, when the figure takes its seat.

Prize-Winning Director Amazed at Film's Success

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—He looked more like an itinerant basketball pro than the winner of this year's Academy Award for direction.

Tony Richardson, un-British in faded blue jeans, royal blue windbreaker and sneakers, was directing tests of Anjanette Comer as a mortuary assistant and Sir John Gielgud as a corpse for "The Loved One." The director was working on a tiny stage of a Hollywood television studio despite the fact that the film is being released by MGM.

"The Loved One," based on Evelyn Waugh's satire of the Southern California undertaking industry, will be filmed entirely on location. The closest Richardson will come to MGM is the parking lot and the administration building, which will double for headquarters of a "Memorial Park."

Richardson is the man who made "Tom Jones," which brought him every award in sight, including the Oscar. He had no inkling that it would prove such a success.

"After I finished making it, I thought it was a mess," he recalled. "It seemed all jumbled and disjointed, and I didn't see how anyone would make any sense out of it."

"Tom Jones" was shot entirely on location, he said, using houses of the period of the Henry Fielding novel. In some cases sets were improvised within the houses by using screens and backdrops.

He estimated the film's cost at $1,300,000 and hears that its predicted gross ranges between $25 and $30 million. "Incredible," he commented.

"The Loved One," which also stars Robert Morse and Jonathan Winters, appears to be proof of that. After that he plans two American subjects: "Reflections in a Golden Eye," a Carson McCullers story to be filmed in Georgia; and James Baldwin's "Another Country," for shooting in New York City.

"I plan to make four films before I undertake 'The Charge of the Light Brigade,'" the director said.

Richardson would like to film the Crimean war story in the actual locale, making use of Russian cavalry. He said the Russians have offered to cooperate, but he has his doubts. The script, he explained, would detail what he called colossal stupidity on both sides of the

Through the graciousness of the bank's guests, Mr. and Mrs. Kenny Hannan, who furnished their boat, the afternoon and evening were spent water skiing and boating.

THINKS IT'S HIS EARS — Thinking he is going to get his ears straightened, but actually facing delicate heart surgery, an active little French boy, Jean-Georges Demaria, 6, sets his sights aboard the liner France in New York Harbor. It is hoped the surgery at Mayo Clinic in Rochester, Minn., will correct his aortic stenosis, which makes his heart beat about five times the normal rate.

Abe Lincoln Is Star of World's Fair

NEW YORK (AP)—The individual star of the World's Fair is none other than Abraham Lincoln.

Some audiences he holds in spellbound silence. Others he sets to cheering wildly.

People go away from his performances in awe with praise and such exclamations as "Stupendous!" "Tremendous!" and "Most impressive and inspiring." Many return time and again.

Lincoln, seen as the feature attraction of the Illinois Pavilion, is the creation of the Walt Disney organization.

He is a new type of animated figure so lifelike many find it hard to believe he isn't really real. He fits the exact description of Lincoln as to face and figure, dress, speech and mannerisms.

After dramatic introductory music and other material, the stage curtains part before a hushed audience to reveal the figure sitting in center stage in a high-backed chair.

There is seldom the slightest sound from the audiences—except for cheers. These come with a roar at the end, when the figure takes its seat.

Prize-Winning Director Amazed at Film's Success

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—He looked more like an itinerant basketball pro than the winner of this year's Academy Award for direction.

Tony Richardson, un-British in faded blue jeans, royal blue windbreaker and sneakers, was directing tests of Anjanette Comer as a mortuary assistant and Sir John Gielgud as a corpse for "The Loved One."

The director was working on a tiny stage of a Hollywood television studio despite the fact that the film is being released by MGM.

"The Loved One," based on Evelyn Waugh's satire of the Southern California undertaking industry, will be filmed entirely on location. The closest Richardson will come to MGM is the parking lot and the administration building, which will double for headquarters of a "Memorial Park."

Richardson is the man who made "Tom Jones," which brought him every award in sight, including the Oscar. He had no inkling that it would prove such a success.

"After I finished making it, I thought it was a mess," he recalled. "It seemed all jumbled and disjointed, and I didn't see how anyone would make any sense out of it."

"Tom Jones" was shot entirely on location, he said, using houses of the period of the Henry Fielding novel. In some cases sets were improvised within the houses by using screens and backdrops.

He estimated the film's cost at $1,300,000 and hears that its predicted gross ranges between $25 and $30 million. "Incredible," he commented.

"The Loved One," which also stars Robert Morse and Jonathan Winters, appears to be proof of that. After that he plans two American subjects: "Reflections in a Golden Eye," a Carson McCullers story to be filmed in Georgia; and James Baldwin's "Another Country," for shooting in New York City.

"I plan to make four films before I undertake 'The Charge of the Light Brigade,'" the director said.

Richardson would like to film the Crimean war story in the actual locale, making use of Russian cavalry. He said the Russians have offered to cooperate, but he has his doubts. The script, he explained, would detail what he called colossal stupidity on both sides of the

Forester Doubts Heat To Increase Fires

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio's hot weather is not likely to increase the risk of forest fires, a state official says.

R. B. Redett of the Forestry Division, Department of Natural Resources, said Thursday one reason is that shade helps woods retain considerable moisture. He said only three small fires have been reported this month.

Inflation Ahead?

Neither the fact that this is a presidential election year nor the onset of summer has resulted in a slowing of the overall economy, although the former was once widely regarded as bad medicine for business. And the "summer business solstice" which once was taken for granted is exerting no universal influence.

In fact, business prognosticators have swung to the opinion that a new spiral of inflation may be ahead, and inflationary spirals only develop when the economy is booming. Business activity, in short, may be headed for a fall and winter upward swing.

New high marks are being registered by the cost of living. Currently there is no agitation for government action to lower interest rates, which always appears when there is a slowing of business activity.

What is expected now by financial and business experts is close scrutiny of price — but not wage — increases by Washington, where officials are more apprehensive of a new round of inflation than they are of possible deflationary trends.

The stock market, although no longer regarded as the business weather vane it formerly was, reflects such thinking. The market continues to advance. Buyers of stocks seem to be confident the boom will continue.

The healthy state of the economy is attested by gains in nearly all business categories. A slight slowing in new home construction has had no impact. A new wave of inflation may indeed be in the making.

The Business World

By Sam Dawson

NEW YORK (AP)—Most business spokesmen hold fast to their belief that the economic upswing is too strong for this summer's particular perils to curb.

The perils most often cited are the possible outcomes of the auto labor negotiations, a more emotional than usual presidential campaign, and the failure of economic growth to make much of a dent in unemployment.

Business circles also are watching closely the trend in the factory work week this summer, in new orders for durable goods, especially in the machinery and equipment industries, and the racial conflicts which could cause economic as well as political upsets.

As always, the ups and downs of the stock market have their emotional effect on both businessmen and the general public. But the momentum of the industrial and retail expansion in the early spring is counted on to carry over into the fall and winter. The more optimistic, or venturesome, see all of 1965 in the plus column, and put off any worrying until 1966.

In the midst of all this euphoria, the auto labor talks are a leading question mark at the moment. The worst that could happen to the economy in general would be a long strike. This would cripple the steel industry along with many other suppliers.

In management eyes, almost as bad would be a wage and fringe benefit settlement so costly as to set off price increases. And such a pact would be a goal for other labor leaders. The worst thing here would be the sparking of another wage-price spiral such as troubled the nation in the late 1940s and early 1950s.

Remarks To Irk Single Girls

By Hal Boyle

NEW YORK (AP)—Remarks that single girls get tired of during Leap Year—or any other year:

"Well, Esmerelda, you know there's such a thing as being too choosy."

"Sorry, Ma'am, but we don't serve ladies without escorts at the bar. Would you like a table?"

"I wouldn't exactly call her an old maid. But then, on the other hand, she certainly isn't getting any younger."

"I'll get Esmerelda to babysit for us, Joe. After all she doesn't have much to do in the evenings."

"When she first came to work here, she had the best figure of any girl in the place."

"Honey, if you take my advice, you'll marry any of them. All men are bums anyway, and one's as good as the other. The main thing is, does he have a steady job and go to work every day?"

"At her age you'd think she'd have outgrown the Cinderella complex. But you know how some girls are. They go on all their lives dreaming that some Joe in shining armor is going to gallop up on a white horse and sweep them away from it all."

"The linen in her hope chest is turning yellow."

"Good Lord, I almost forgot—it's my wife's birthday. Would you order me a dozen roses for her? And if you have time on your lunch hour, I sure would appreciate it if you'd stop by and pick up a couple of theater tickets for tonight. I think I'll surprise the old girl. Gee, thanks, Esmerelda, you're a real doll. I don't know how I'd get along without you."

"She's married to her job."

"We're taking up an office collection for Tessie. She's marrying Jim—you know, the guy in the shipping department. How do you like that?—she's here only three months, and got a man already. Shall I put you down for a buck? Gee, over the years, Esmerelda, I guess you've put out a lot of dollars for office showers."

"What are you waiting for? Sir Galahad?"

IN FRONT OF Sardi's restaurant in the theatrical district is posted a mounted policeman whose sleek, black horse loves doughnuts. On many an afternoon, Vincent Sardi personally has fed the appreciative steed a fresh doughnut from the Sardi bakery.

One day, however, the horse disdainfully refused to eat the doughnut Sardi held out to him. Sardi didn't know what to make of this until the officer explained carefully, "You fail to grasp the situation, Vincent. This is a horse of a different cruller."

Walter Van Tilburg Clark, who wrote the memorable "Ox-bow Incident," tells about a small-town Casanova whose reputation grew so fabulous that Saint Peter paled when he ultimately presented himself at the Pearly Gates. "Just a moment, my boy," said St. Peter, and disappeared for several moments.

"What's the idea?" protested our Lover-Boy when St. Peter returned. "Don't I rate Heaven?"

"It wasn't that," St. Peter assured him. "I was just locking up all the girls before I let you in."

Speaking of YOUR HEALTH...

By LESTER L. COLEMAN, M.D.

Q: What is pernicious anemia?
A: Pernicious anemia is a chronic blood condition characterized by a deficiency of red blood cells. It is diagnosed by a study of the blood and an evaluation of the presenting symptoms.

Q: What are the symptoms of pernicious anemia?
A: The general weakness, sore tongue, headache, intestinal disturbance and swollen ankles which usually accompany pernicious anemia are also common to many other conditions. That is why it is foolish to attempt self-diagnosis of this or any other disease. A description of symptoms too often arouses unnecessary anxieties and fear in many people, who immediately say: "That's just what I have!" The likelihood is that you do not.

Q: What causes pernicious anemia?
A: The cause is highly technical. The disturbance of a complex system of interaction by certain blood components in various organs of the body finally results in a severe deficiency of Vitamin B12. This interferes with the normal production of healthy blood by the liver and the bone marrow, and causes pernicious anemia.

Pernicious anemia is not caused by a dietary deficiency of Vitamin B12.

Q: Is the disease hereditary?
A: There seems to be a familial tendency towards it. If there have been cases of pernicious anemia in your family, that does not necessarily mean that you will get it. It is always wise to be watchful—but not fearful.

Q: Can the disease occur at any age?
A: It is rarely noted below the age of 30. Strangely, it seems to occur more frequently in blue-eyed, light-haired people, and especially in the British Isles and Scandinavia.

Q: Can pernicious anemia be cured?
A: It cannot be cured, but it definitely can be controlled. People with pernicious anemia must be under regular medical supervision and treatment. Although the disease is "pernicious," with proper care patients can live in health and comfort to the proverbial "ripe old age."

Q: What is the treatment for pernicious anemia?
A: The most effective treatment is regular injection of Vitamin B12. In addition, a special dietary regime high in Vitamin B12 (usually including large amounts of cooked liver) is recommended. Sometimes folic acid is also given as a supplementary vitamin. Your own doctor will prescribe the course of treatment that is best for you.

The effective control of pernicious anemia truly represents one of the greatest scientific contributions of modern times. This "pernicious" disease is no longer a terrifying threat to health and longevity.

'Businessmen's Peace Corps'

By John Chamberlain

It was a shrewd move by President Lyndon Johnson to establish a "businessmen's Peace Corps." The official name of the new organization is the International Executive Service Corps, and it will send available businessmen, many of them drawn from the ranks of the retired, to help assist the industrial and commercial development of struggling nations.

The fanfare accompanying the selection of Omer C. Lunsford, a New York oil man, William Chapman, an accounting expert from Buenos Aires, and Benjamin B. Smith, a Los Angeles lawyer, to start the project off, however, must seem a trifle overblown to old time partisans of private industry. For the truth is that there has been a "businessmen's Peace Corps" all along, one that was operating long before Washington got into the picture. The unofficial "Peace Corps" includes, of course, all the American corporations that do an overseas business, but there is more to it than pursuit of the main chance for a profit.

The other day there was a festive occasion in New York that did not get any particular fanfare. The President of the Ivory Coast Republic of Africa, Felix Houphouet-Boigny, and his Chancellor, George Anoma, working through their Ambassador in the U. S., Konan Bedie, singled out three particular businessmen who belong to no organized governmental peace corps and bestowed upon them the National Order of the Ivory Coast for services to the republic's economy. One of the recipients, George Peabody, a professional New York coffee man who has never laid his eyes on the Ivory Coast, is vice president of Tenco, a group of coffee importers that has recently become a subsidiary of Coca-Cola; another, Fernando Quintana, formerly of Cuba, is an engineer who has worked in Africa for the Westinghouse Electric Company; and the third, Nicholas Feuillatte, is a French broker who has been serving in the U. S. as a director of the Ivory Coast Stabilization Fund.

Mr. Peabody and Monsieur Feuillatte got their medals for help in turning the Ivory Coast from a relative nonentity in the coffee business into the world's third producer of coffee. Before it had become a republic, the Ivory Coast exported a low grade of coffee called brazures that brought only sixteen cents a pound. Asked to buy it, Mr. Peabody said he couldn't use it for any of the blends sold by his company.

He needed the type of coffee that would cost twenty-five cents. Instead of being insulted, as certain countries had been when their coffees were rejected, the Ivory Coast coffee people stayed to ask Mr. Peabody innumerable questions. He supplied them with all sorts of information gleaned from experience with Latin American coffees. Some time later a new Ivory Coast coffee product was offered to him, and it passed muster. Mr. Peabody still doesn't know how the Ivory Coast managed to upgrade its coffee in such a short time.

Monsieur Feuillatte, as an expert in monetary matters and commercial stabilization, took over once the Ivory Coast had something worth selling. He has been placing some 100 million dollars worth of Ivory Coast coffee abroad each year. Fernando Quintana got his own particular medal for carrying through a Westinghouse Assistance project that has resulted in a vast expansion of electrical energy on the Ivory Coast.

The point about all this is that the Ivory Coast, which is practically next door to socialist Ghana, has managed to tap western business brains without invoking the government-to-government approach that always seems to end up in the intensification of socialistic enterprise. The Ivory Coast president, Houphouet-Boigny, was educated in France, and is a believer in free enterprise. According to Mr. Peabody and Mr. Quintana, with whom this columnist talked recently, the Ivory Coast is making splendid economic progress since it gained its freedom simply because its attitude favors business enterprise. It doesn't need a government-sponsored "businessmen's Peace Corps." This is not said to throw any cold water on Lyndon Johnson's latest creation, which may be needed to bring light to other new economies that are not blessed with the Ivory Coast's way of looking at things.

The Business World

NEW YORK (AP)—Most business spokesmen hold fast to their belief that the economic upswing is too strong for this summer's particular perils to curb.

The perils most often cited are the possible outcomes of the auto labor negotiations, a more emotional than usual presidential campaign, and the failure of economic growth to make much of a dent in unemployment.

Business circles also are watching closely the trend in the factory work week this summer, in new orders for durable goods, especially in the machinery and equipment industries, and the racial conflicts which could cause economic as well as political upsets.

The worst thing here would be the sparking of another wage-price spiral such as troubled the nation in the late 1940s and early 1950s.

Most observers are saying, at least, that they expect neither a strike nor an inflationary settlement.

The more prosaic factors of the economy—new orders, factory work weeks, expansion plans, retail sales—will be watched closely this summer by business and government executive officials alike.

Some slackening in many of these indicators of things to come is to be expected during the hot months.

So far, some downturns have been reported. The optimists call them seasonal or temporary. They stress the signs that point to a big autumn recovery—such things as business plans for more spending on plant and equipment, and consumer spending intention polls which show confidence still strong and purse strings still loose.

"Gee, Esmerelda, you're real sport. How come a nice girl like you never got married? I bet you could make any man happy."

"What are you waiting for? Sir Galahad?"

"The thing I like about you, Esmerelda is that you know how men really feel. Now you take my wife, for example. She doesn't understand me at all."

"Let's go dutch."

Her elbow is worn out from throwing rice at other girls' weddings.

"If you want to know how the pension fund operates, Jack, you'd better ask Esmerelda. She knows it backward and forward."

"According to the memo from the personnel department, she's been with us 20 years tomorrow. I'll flip you to see which one of us has to take her to lunch."

"The thing I like about you is that you're not flighty like most dames. You've really got your feet on the ground."

Try and Stop Me

By BENNETT CERF

IN FRONT OF Sardi's restaurant in the theatrical district is posted a mounted policeman whose sleek, black horse loves doughnuts. On many an afternoon, Vincent Sardi personally has fed the appreciative steed a fresh doughnut from the Sardi bakery.

One day, however, the horse disdainfully refused to eat the doughnut Sardi held out to him. Sardi didn't know what to make of this until the officer explained carefully, "You fail to grasp the situation, Vincent. This is a horse of a different cruller."

Walter Van Tilburg Clark, who wrote the memorable "Ox-bow Incident," tells about a small-town Casanova whose reputation grew so fabulous that Saint Peter paled when he ultimately presented himself at the Pearly Gates. "Just a moment, my boy," said St. Peter, and disappeared for several moments. "What's the idea?" protested our Lover-Boy when St. Peter returned. "Don't I rate Heaven?" "It wasn't that," St. Peter assured him. "I was just locking up all the girls before I let you in."

Speaking of YOUR HEALTH...

By LESTER L. COLEMAN, M.D.

Q: What is pernicious anemia?
A: Pernicious anemia is a chronic blood condition characterized by a deficiency of red blood cells. It is diagnosed by a study of the blood and an evaluation of the presenting symptoms.

Q: What are the symptoms of pernicious anemia?
A: The general weakness, sore tongue, headache, intestinal disturbance and swollen ankles which usually accompany pernicious anemia are also common to many other conditions. That is why it is foolish to attempt self-diagnosis of this or any other disease. A description of symptoms too often arouses unnecessary anxieties and fear in many people, who immediately say: "That's just what I have!" The likelihood is that you do not.

Q: What causes pernicious anemia?
A: The cause is highly technical. The disturbance of a complex system of interaction by certain blood components in various organs of the body finally results in a severe deficiency of Vitamin B12. This interferes with the normal production of healthy blood by the liver and the bone marrow, and causes pernicious anemia.

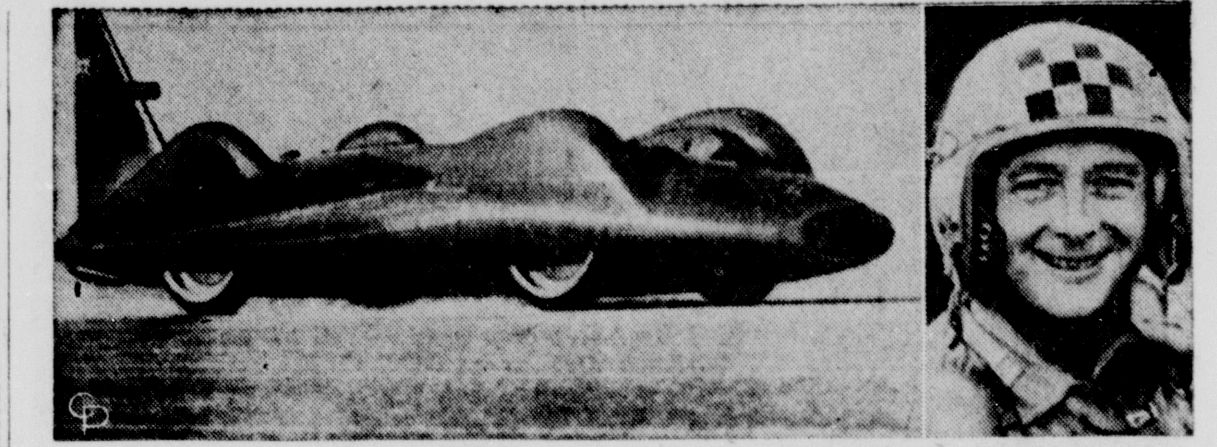

Pernicious anemia is not caused by a dietary deficiency of Vitamin B12.

Q: Is the disease hereditary?
A: There seems to be a familial tendency towards it. If there have been cases of pernicious anemia in your family, that does not necessarily mean that you will get it. It is always wise to be watchful—but not fearful.

Q: Can the disease occur at any age?
A: It is rarely noted below the age of 30. Strangely, it seems to occur more frequently in blue-eyed, light-haired people, and especially in the British Isles and Scandinavia.

Q: Can pernicious anemia be cured?
A: It cannot be cured, but it definitely can be controlled. People with pernicious anemia must be under regular medical supervision and treatment. Although the disease is "pernicious," with proper care patients can live in health and comfort to the proverbial "ripe old age."

Q: What is the treatment for pernicious anemia?
A: The most effective treatment is regular injection of Vitamin B12. In addition, a special dietary regime high in Vit-

'Businessmen's Peace Corps'

By John Chamberlain

It was a shrewd move by President Lyndon Johnson to establish a "businessmen's Peace Corps." The official name of the new organization is the International Executive Service Corps, and it will send available businessmen, many of them drawn from the ranks of the retired, to help assist the industrial and commercial development of struggling nations.

The fanfare accompanying the selection of Omer C. Lunsford, a New York oil man, William Chapman, an accounting expert from Buenos Aires, and Benjamin B. Smith, a Los Angeles lawyer, to start the project off, however, must seem a trifle overblown to old time participants of private industry. For the truth is that there has been a "businessmen's Peace Corps" all along, one that was operating long before Washington got into the picture. The unofficial "Peace Corps" includes, of course, all the American corporations that do an overseas business, but there is more to it than pursuit of the main chance for a profit.

The other day there was a festive occasion in New York that did not get any particular fanfare. The President of the Ivory Coast Republic of Africa, Felix Houphouët-Boigny, and his Chancellor, George Anoma, working through their Ambassador in the U. S., Konan Bedie, singled out three particular businessmen who belong to no organized governmental peace corps and bestowed upon them the National Order of the Ivory Coast for services to the republic's economy. One of the recipients, George Peabody, a professional New York coffee man who has never laid his eyes on the Ivory Coast, is vice president of Tenco, a group of coffee importers that has recently become a subsidiary of Coca-Cola; another, Fernando Quintana, formerly of Cuba, is an engineer who has worked in Africa for the Westinghouse Electric Company; and the third, Nicholas Feuillatte, is a French broker who has been serving in the U. S. as a director of the Ivory Coast Stabilization Fund.

Mr. Peabody and Monsieur Feuillatte got their medals for help in turning the Ivory Coast from a relative nonentity in the coffee business into the world's third producer of coffee. Before it had become a republic, the Ivory Coast exported a low grade of coffee called braziers that brought only sixteen cents a pound. Asked to buy it, Mr. Peabody said he couldn't use it for any of the blends sold by his company.

He needed the type of coffee that would cost twenty-five cents. Instead of being insulted, as certain countries had been when their coffees were rejected, the Ivory Coast coffee people stayed to ask Mr. Peabody innumerable questions. He supplied them with all sorts of information gleaned from experience with Latin American coffees. Some time later a new Ivory Coast coffee product was offered to him, and it passed muster. Mr. Peabody still doesn't know how the Ivory Coast managed to upgrade its coffee in such a short time.

Monsieur Feuillatte, as an expert in monetary matters and commercial stabilization, took over once the Ivory Coast had something worth selling. He has been placing some 100 million dollars worth of Ivory Coast coffee abroad each year. Fernando Quintana got his own particular medal for carrying through a Westinghouse Assistance project that has resulted in a vast expansion of electrical energy on the Ivory Coast. The point about all this is that the Ivory Coast, which is practically next door to socialist Ghana, has managed to tap western business brains without invoking the government - to-government approach that always seems to end up in the intensification of socialistic enterprise. The Ivory Coast president, Houphouët-Boigny, was educated in France, and is a believer in free enterprise. According to Mr. Peabody and Mr. Quintana, with whom this columnist talked recently, the Ivory Coast is making splendid economic progress since it gained its freedom simply because its attitude favors business enterprise. It doesn't need a government - sponsored "businessmen's Peace Corps." This is not said to throw any cold water on Lyndon Johnson's latest creation, which may be needed to bring light to other new economies that are not blessed with the Ivory Coast's way of looking at things.

Local Baha'i Group Lists Weekly Thought

The following is from Baha'i teachings: "The diversity of the human race is one of its glories. The unity of man does not require uniformity. The flowers of a garden vary in kind, color, form and shape, yet all are refreshed by the same water and sun."

"Likewise the human race is varied, but refreshed by the same grace of God. When shades of thought, temperament and character are brought together under the central agency of the work of God, the ideas and convictions of men will be harmonized and made manifest to all the world."

"This is the meaning of the Baha'i concept of unity."

Mansfield Boy, 3, Killed in Home Fire

MANSFIELD, Ohio (AP) — Roger Conant, 3-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. David Conant, perished in a fire at his home Thursday. Cause of the fire, which caused considerable damage to the two-story home, was not determined immediately.

Cleric Says Church Today Tied by Antique Methods

NEW YORK (AP)—If Christ
went to the World's Fair says
Dr. Ira Lee Eshleman. He
would march right up to the un-isphere and preach to the crowd in parables illustrated from science.

His English, religionwise,
might sound more like Madison Avenue than King James version. That's because He believed in talking to people in language they could understand.
"He would use fair pageant
and personalities, but His message would be basically the same," says Dr. Eshleman.
"The heart of man, like God's,
does not change with the passing of time."

Dr. Eshleman, who founded nondenominational Protestant
Community and Winter Chautauqua in Boca Raton, Fla., 14
years ago is producing weekend sacred concerts at the fair's Protestant Center and Federal Pavilion.

In addition he conducts television interviews with celebrities such as actress Dale Evans;
and Walter Judd, former congressman from Minnesota. "I try to discover how they found peace with God and if they have a message to share with others."

"I think Robert Moses, the fair's president, is to be complimented for introducing into this fair a voice for God such as none other in history," the minister says.

Religious exhibits include the Protestant and Orthodox Center, the Vatican Pavilion, the American-Israel Pavilion, Pavilion of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints, sermons from science, the Russian Orthodox Chapel, the pavilion of
the 2,000 tribes—sponsored by Wycliffe Bible translators—and Christian Science and evangelist
Billy Graham.

"I'm for anyone who does
good Christian work," Dr.
Eshleman says. "If Paul—
Christianity's Aristotle and Demosthenes—were alive today he would do what Billy Graham is doing."

If Christ were to come back,
says Florida's 1963 Man of the Year, "He would make himself
accessible as a great physician to men wherever they were in need. Most of His work was done outside the temples of religion, you know."

"There would be the biggest traffic jam in history if Christ
stood on a spot at the unisphere and called Lazarus back from the tomb. This He would not do.
He never did his miracles for
the sake of entertainment, but rather for the purpose of setting forth His credentials to identify him as God incarnate."

Dr. Eshleman, 47, had an early business background and then went into the ministry in 1941, taking a small pastorate in Detroit. Nine years later he went to Florida. Each Sunday during the season Dr. Eshman preaches to more than 1,000 people.

The church he thinks, is trying "to reach an exploding population with horse and buggy
methods and is wondering why America with each passing year
is becoming increasingly paganistic."

"Church membership statistics may look encouraging, but attendance and devotion to the church and God's message is greatly on the decline."

Nonetheless, he's optimistic.
"I have a feeling," he says,
"that there's going to be a great renaissance in the field of religion, comparable to the Reformation. God may surprise us by bringing to the front some unique vessel or totally new instrument—a person or movement—to bring the impact of
His message home to people living in a changing world."

Poll Gives LBJ 64-36 Pct. Edge

WASHINGTON (AP) — A
sharp upswing of voter support
in the South has boosted Sen.
Barry Goldwater's popularity,
but he still trails President
Johnson nationally by 64 per cent to 36, according to the latest Louis Harris poll.

Goldwater swept into a clear
lead in the South, with the support of 55 per cent of those polled.

The poll, copyrighted by the Washington Post, showed that before the Republican National Convention, Johnson led nationally 72-22, with 6 per cent undecided.

The same voters, questioned
after the convention, preferred
Johnson 61-31, with 8 per cent
undecided.

When the undecided voters discounted, Johnson's lead fell from 74-26 before the convention to 64-36 afterward.

President Johnson leads in the other three sections: in the East, 74-26; in the Midwest, 64-
36; and in the West, 69-31.

Johnson's overall 64-36 per cent lead, the Harris poll said,
was the widest enjoyed by any candidate for president in modern times at this stage of the campaign.

OUR NEW LAND

THE CHURCH FOR ALL...
ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation.
(4) For the sake of the church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Forty-three acres! How long we labored, hoping someday to add it to our modest farm.

Good bottom land... with a grove for the children
to play in, a stream with an ol' swimmin' hole, and rich soil just begging for the plow.

Now it's ours! A great moment... full of promise
... fraught with challenge.

Sort of like that moment a few years ago when Peg and I became members of the congregation. Before that the church had been simply a familiar scene along the border of our lives. Suddenly it became our church.

And there was that deep sense of partnership with
God... full of promise... fraught with challenge.

There is such an abundant harvest of blessing and happiness to be reaped in life... if a man yearns for the best, and claims it for his own, and is ready to put his hand to the plow.

The following is from Baha'i teachings: "The diversity of the human race is one of its glories. The unity of man does not require uniformity. The flowers of a garden vary in kind, color, form and shape, yet all are refreshed by the same water and sun."

"Likewise the human race is varied, but refreshed by the same grace of God. When shades of thought, temperament and character are brought together under the central agency of the work of God, the ideas and convictions of men will be harmonized and made manifest to all the world."

"This is the meaning of the Baha'i concept of unity."

Cause of the fire, which caused considerable damage to the two-story home, was not determined immediately.

Cleric Says Church Today Tied by Antique Methods

NEW YORK (AP)—If Christ
went to the World's Fair says
Dr. Ira Lee Eshleman, He
would march right up to the un-isphere and preach to the crowd
in parables illustrated from science.

His English, religionwise,
might sound more like Madison Avenue than King James version. That's because He believed in talking to people in language they could understand.

"He would use fair pageant
and personalities, but His message would be basically the same," says Dr. Eshleman.
"The heart of man, like God's,
does not change with the passing of time."

Dr. Eshleman, who founded
nondenominational Protestant
Community and Winter Chautauqua in Boca Raton, Fla., 14
years ago is producing weekend sacred concerts at the fair's Protestant Center and Federal Pavilion.

In addition he conducts television interviews with celebrities
such as actress Dale Evans;
and Walter Judd, former congressman from Minnesota. "I
try to discover how they found
peace with God and if they have

"I think Robert Moses, the fair's president, is to be complimented for introducing into this fair a voice for God such as none other in history," the minister says.

Religious exhibits include the Protestant and Orthodox Center, the Vatican Pavilion, the American-Israel Pavilion, Pavilion of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints, sermons from science, the Russian Orthodox Chapel, the pavilion of
the 2,000 tribes—sponsored by Wycliffe Bible translators—and Christian Science and evangelist
Billy Graham.

"I'm for anyone who does
good Christian work," Dr.
Eshleman says. "If Paul—
Christianity's Aristotle and De-
mosthenes—were alive today he would do what Billy Graham is doing."

If Christ were to come back,
says Florida's 1963 Man of the Year, "He would make himself
accessible as a great physician
to men wherever they were in need. Most of His work was done outside the temples of religion, you know."

"There would be the biggest traffic jam in history if Christ
stood on a spot at the unisphere and called Lazarus back from the tomb. This He would not do.
He never did his miracles for
the sake of entertainment, but
rather for the purpose of setting
forth His credentials to identify
him as God incarnate."

The church he thinks, is trying "to reach an exploding
population with horse and buggy
methods and is wondering why
America with each passing year
is becoming increasingly pagan-
istic."

"Church membership statistics may look encouraging, but attendance and devotion to the church and God's message is greatly on the decline."

Nonetheless, he's optimistic.
"I have a feeling," he says,
"that there's going to be a great
renaissance in the field of religion, comparable to the Reformation. God may surprise us by bringing to the front some
unique vessel or totally new instrument—a person or movement—to bring the impact of
His message home to people living in a changing world."

Poll Gives LBJ 64-36 Pct. Edge

WASHINGTON (AP) — A
sharp upswing of voter support
in the South has boosted Sen.
Barry Goldwater's popularity,
but he still trails President
Johnson nationally by 64 per cent to 36, according to the latest Louis Harris poll.

Goldwater swept into a clear
lead in the South, with the support of 55 per cent of those polled.

The poll, copyrighted by the Washington Post, showed that
before the Republican National Convention, Johnson led nationally 72-22, with 6 per cent undecided.

The same voters, questioned
after the convention, preferred
Johnson 61-31, with 8 per cent
undecided.

When the undecided voters discounted, Johnson's lead fell
from 74-26 before the convention
to 64-36 afterward.

President Johnson leads in the other three sections: in the
East, 74-26; in the Midwest, 64-
36; and in the West, 69-31.

Johnson's overall 64-36 per cent lead, the Harris poll said,
was the widest enjoyed by any candidate for president in modern times at this stage of the campaign.

Juvenile Court Slated At Reds Baseball Park

CINCINNATI (AP)—Juveniles caught harrassing baseball fans and doing damage to cars and buses at Crosley Field will be taken to court, along with their parents.

Juvenile Judge Benjamin S.
Schwartz said Thursday a juvenile court field office will be set up at the field, home of the Cincinnati Reds, to handle the offenders.

Forty-three acres! How long we labored, hoping someday to add it to our modest farm.

Good bottom land... with a grove for the children
to play in, a stream with an ol' swimmin' hole, and rich soil just begging for the plow.

Now it's ours! A great moment... full of promise
... fraught with challenge.

Sort of like that moment a few years ago when Peg and I became members of the congregation. Before that the church had been simply a familiar scene

along the border of our lives. Suddenly it became our church.

And there was that deep sense of partnership with God... full of promise... fraught with challenge.

There is such an abundant harvest of blessing and
happiness to be reaped in life... if a man yearns for the best, and claims it for his own, and is ready to put his hand to the plow.

STRONG CHURCHES

Make STRONG COMMUNITIES

DECORATIVE BATH — Four colorful units with shelves and either a drawer or twin bins are stacked to provide storage space. New storage units are designed to eliminate clutter and create extra space.

New Storage Units Designed for the Bath

By JOAN O'SULLIVAN

Color has come to the bath; so has design and decorative know-how.

Towel and shower — curtain makers started the trend and now everyone's getting into the act.

The units which have shelves, racks, cabinets or bins, can be wall-mounted in countless combinations.

Singly or stacked in units of two or more, they can also be hung on the back of a door to turn waste space to storage uses.

Both units are colorful in such shades as turquoise, lilac, sandalwood, pink, yellow or blue.

Standing storage units are also available. A collection in brass with gold — patterned white plastic shelves is outstanding.

The group includes a three-shelf design for stacking towels or storing beauty aids as well as a unit with three towel racks and a low shelf for other storage needs.

The hamper picture, too, is prettier than ever.

One new line, including a hamper, vanity bench, wastebasket and brush holder, is done in vinyl fabric that simulates French boucle and is decorated with a beautiful gold fleur-de-lis medallion.

There's color here, too, including pink, mocha, sky blue, antique gold or green.

A Georgetown print on either an avocado or beige ground vinyl is used for another new hamper and an oval wastebasket. It has an Early American look and would be at home in either bath or bedroom.

Even the medicine chest has acquired a decorator touch. A new one is pretty as a picture. In fact, its sliding mirrored doors are outlined with a baroque picture frame that has an elegant gold-rubbed white finish.

These are just a few of the fabulous accessories that you'll find in bath shops. They're turning what used to be a forgotten room into a decorator's delight.

You can bake stuffed pork chops, after browning. Use a moderate oven and allow the chops to get very tender—they'll be thick (or stuffing) so they'll probably need about 1½ hours.

Convenient Traveling Equipment

By ELEANOR ROSS

In another visit to our wonderfully well-stocked notions department of our favorite store, we not only did some shopping but surveyed some more items for the traveler.

A week-end at the beach can play havoc with the hair and since her hair is always on a woman's mind as well as on her head, there are several items deserving some suitcase or tote-bag space.

One is a good double-duty notion — a drip-dry top, which both staves off scorching sun and, when necessary, camouflages curls. The traveler will, of course, have tucked some bobby pins and at least a few strategic rollers in her boodle bag.

Help is at hand in the guise of a novel chamomile swim band, plastic-lined and self-adhering for the closest fit, which will go beneath any type of swim cap and positively keep the aqua away. A double-barreled boon, this is equally good beneath the shower.

All water isn't just found in pool or sea. Despite the sun-drenched ads, it has been known to drizzle in vacation land — enough at times, if truth be told, to wash out hopes for a sun tan. It can do the same to curls in hair and pleats in clothes, unless, of course, the traveler comes prepared.

The latest rainwear is more practical and, what is more important to the traveler, more packable than ever. It's also prettier and so very inexpensive that it is good sense to keep a complete set in several places — a desk drawer at the office, the travel case that is used the most and the current handbag.

Raincoats tuck into their own space-saving cases; rain capes can swirl around the fullest skirts; rain boots are sized to heel heights; rain bonnets are so chic that one might even wish for a shower or two.

Such tuck-in travel aids can make or break a gal's vacation.

"The little things mean a lot" was never truer than in reference to traveling. A monarch may have cried "My kingdom for a horse," but the female's far more fervent when she offers anything for just a threaded needle or a simple safety pin. Inevitably, a strap will break, hemline droop, a button pop, or seam split just when a girl is getting dressed for that wonderful holiday highlight.

The mishap doesn't become a nightmare if a well-stocked sewing kit is part of every packing plan. The stores have a wonderful variety of these. They are small, easily tucked away in handbag or suitcase corner.

Keeping clean and neat can really be a problem when away. The wisest woman doesn't rely on laundry services in strange surroundings. Instead, she totes along a little travel kit containing washing compound in slim envelopes, small clip clothespins and even a latex line.

And the really fastidious traveler will want to stash a three-ounce ironing pad in some small corner of her suitcase. This small miracle is 8 by 24 inches, is scorch-resistant and, what's more, has a see-through press cloth anchored to one end.

The whole shebang folds up into a bantam bag.

Dear Abby: Speak Up, Give Affection

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: My husband hasn't kissed me since 1959. And then it was only a little peck on the cheek. We are both in our 60's and I would enjoy some affection. I hate to bring it up because I think it's the man's place to. I suppose there is always a chance that he is finished with that part of his life. But if he isn't, what a pity to have it wasted. I don't discuss matters of this nature with my friends, so I don't know whether I am expecting too much of my husband or not. Can you tell me?

YOUNG AT HEART
DEAR YOUNG: The physical capabilities of men vary widely, so there is no telling when one is "finished with that part of his life." Forget whose place it is to take the initiative, and you'll have your answer.

DEAR ABBY: I know you are probably sick of complaints against mothers-in-law, but please help me. Four months ago my mother-in-law came to live with us. She's spry, in good health and a good sport. BUT—she monopolizes every conversation. This is no exaggeration. She talks constantly, no matter where we are; at the dinner table, breakfast table, riding in the car or just sitting in the living room. Her voice drones on and on. All the people in her past are discussed at length, everybody's house, and what they have. And she knows more about any subject than anyone else. She discusses every newspaper article, radio program, and TV show she's ever read, heard or seen. I wouldn't hurt her feelings for the world. And neither would my wife. What, oh what, Dear Abby, can be done?

NO NAME, NATURALLY
DEAR NO: Since she is living with you, your wife must get her aside and tell her gently, but firmly, that she must give someone else a chance to talk. If she "forgets," she should be quietly reminded. But for the sake of your family's happiness, DON'T let this go on.

DEAR ABBY: My husband and I went on a camping trip, at which time the mosquitoes sure had a ball on my ankles. My husband said the bites on my ankles could not possibly have been mosquito bites because the "stinger" or proboscis of a mosquito cannot penetrate an inch-thick woolen sock. I KNOW they were mosquito bites because they were identical to the bites on my arms, and I SAW the mosquitoes biting me there. So who is right?

MRS. W.C.S.
DEAR MRS. W.C.S.: To quote Dr. E.M. Farber, Chief of Dermatology at Stanford's School of Medicine: "The husband and wife are both right! Mosquitoes cannot bite through an inch of woolen sock. But they don't have to because mosquitoes not only fly, they climb up socks and crawl down into them, which is apparently what happened. P.S. I hope that is the most serious problem they ever have—the husband and wife, not the mosquitoes."

Ohio Capitol Still Popular To Tourists

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio's capitol building still is a tourist attraction, despite construction work on three sides.

"We're getting about 500 visitors a day, which I'd say is average," says Leo L. Armbrust of the Capitol Police. About 75 per cent are Ohioans.

These are the individuals and families who come informally to the nearly 103-year-old statehouse to look around.

Additionally, there are the pre-arranged guided tours. Armbrust says there have been 441 so far this year, involving 23,680 persons. Construction of parking facilities under the statehouse grounds may reduce the total in this category by 2,000 this year, he thinks, although buses still can maneuver close enough to discharge and pick up such groups.

The greatest guided tour activity, which primarily involves school children, comes in the spring. Odd-numbered years, when the legislature is scheduled to meet, are the most popular and totals have risen from 26,330 in 1955 to 49,905 in 1963.

Delightful fruit compote: slices of fresh pineapple topped with fresh orange sections and slivers of candied or syrup-preserved ginger. If you use the candied ginger, rinse in hot water to remove sugar coating before slicing.

Comedian Bolts TV Show As Dr. Sam, Bride Arrive

CLEVELAND (AP)—The studio audience applauded enthusiastically, but comedian Henry Morgan walked out of the show when Samuel H. Sheppard and his bride, Ariane, appeared on a television program here Thursday.

"This is shocking," Morgan told newsmen in the wings after walking off the Mike Douglas Show (KYW-TV). "How come he suddenly becomes lovable Dr. Sam?"

Sheppard, who was convicted of the 1954 bludgeoning-slaying of his first wife, Marilyn, answered questions from Douglas about his life in Ohio Penitentiary and his hopes for the future. He said he wants to settle in suburban Rocky River and "I hope to reapply for my medical license."

The former osteopath was associated in the family hospital in Bay Village before he was convicted of second-degree murder and sentenced to life imprisonment. His license was suspended by the state medical board in 1957.

Sheppard's two brothers, Drs. Richard and Stephen Sheppard, now operate the hospital.

With Sam and Ariane, whom he married after being released on federal bond last week, was his attorney, F. Lee Bailey.

Morgan is appearing in a summer stock presentation of "Tea-house of the August Moon" being performed in Warren by the Kenley Players.

"What kind of show is this?" Morgan asked, speaking of the program he had walked out on.

"First they put on a man who 10 years ago was convicted of murder then they play a gay tune, and I'm supposed to go on with some jokes. Why, I wouldn't even tell my mother I was on this show."

Told of Morgan's remarks, Bailey threatened to sue for libel. Bailey has told newsmen he objects to Sheppard being called a convicted murderer, declaring that the federal court order obtained last week wipes Sheppard's conviction off the books.

The state is appealing the order issued by U. S. District Court Judge Carl Weinman of Dayton, who ruled that Sheppard did not receive a fair trial. Sheppard is free on $10,000 bond pending a ruling by the U. S. Sixth Circuit Court of Appeals. That ruling is not expected before fall.

DECORATIVE BATH — Four colorful units with shelves and either a drawer or twin bins are stacked to provide storage space. New storage units are designed to eliminate clutter and create extra space.

New Storage Units Designed For the Bath

By JOAN O'SULLIVAN

Color has come to the bath; so has design and decorative know-how.

Towel and shower - curtain makers started the trend and now everyone's getting into the act.

The units which have shelves, racks, cabinets or bins, can be wall-mounted in countless combinations.

Singly or stacked in units of two or more, they can also be hung on the back of a door to turn waste space to storage uses.

Both units are colorful in such shades as turquoise, lilac, sandalwood, pink, yellow or blue.

Standing storage units are also available. A collection in brass with gold - patterned white plastic shelves is outstanding.

The group includes a three-shelf design for stacking towels or storing beauty aids as well as a unit with three towel racks and a low shelf for other storage needs.

The hamper picture, too, is prettier than ever.

One new line, including a hamper, vanity bench, wastebasket and brush holder, is done in vinyl fabric that simulates French boucle and is decorated with a beautiful gold fleur-de-lis medallion.

There's color here, too, including pink, mocha, sky blue, antique gold or green.

A Georgetown print on either an avocado or beige ground vinyl is used for another new hamper and an oval wastebasket. It has an Early American look and would be at home in either bath or bedroom.

Even the medicine chest has acquired a decorator touch. A new one is pretty as a picture. In fact, its sliding mirrored doors are outlined with a baroque picture frame that has an elegant gold-rubbed white finish.

These are just a few of the fabulous accessories that you'll find in bath shops. They're turning what used to be a forgotten room into a decorator's delight.

Convenient Traveling Equipment

By ELEANOR ROSS

In another visit to our wonderfully well - stocked notions department of our favorite store, we not only did some shopping but surveyed some more items for the traveler.

A week-end at the beach can play havoc with the hair and since her hair is always on a woman's mind as well as on her head, there are several items deserving some suitcase or tote-bag space.

One is a good double-duty notion — a drip-dry top, which both staves off scorching sun and, when necessary, camouflages curlers. The traveler will, of course, have tucked some bobby pins and at least a few strategic rollers in her boodile bag.

Help is at hand in the guise of a novel chamouis swim band, plastic-lined and self-adhering for the closest fit, which will go beneath any type of swim cap and positively keep the aqua away. A double - barreled boon, this is equally good beneath the shower.

All water isn't just found in pool or sea. Despite the sun-drenched ads, it has been known to drizzle in vacation land — enough at times, if truth be told, to wash out hopes for a sun tan. It can do the same to curls in hair and pleats in clothes, unless, of course, the traveler comes prepared.

The latest rainwear is more practical and, what is more important to the traveler, more packable than ever. It's also prettier and so very inexpensive that it is good sense to keep a complete set in several places — a desk drawer at the office, the travel case that is used the most and the current handbag.

Raincoats tuck into their own space-saving cases; rain capes can swirl around the fullest skirts; rain boots are sized to heel heights; rain bonnets are so chic that one might even wish for a shower or two.

Such tuck - in travel aids can make or break a gal's vacation.

"The little things mean a lot" was never truer than in reference to traveling. A monarch may have cried "My kingdom for a horse," but the female's far more fervent when she offers anything for just a threaded needle or a simple safety pin. Inevitably, a strap will break, hemline droop, a button pop, or seam split just when a girl is getting dressed for that wonderful holiday highlight.

The mishap doesn't become a nightmare if a well-stocked sewing kit is part of every packing plan. The stores have a wonderful variety of these. They are small, easily tucked away in handbag or suitcase corner.

Keeping clean and neat can really be a problem when away. The wisest woman doesn't rely on laundry services in strange surroundings. Instead, she totes along a little travel kit containing washing compound in slim envelopes, small clip clothespins and even a latex line.

And the really fastidious traveler will want to stash a three-ounce ironing pad in some small corner of her suitcase. This small miracle is 8 by 24 inches, is scorch-resistant and, what's more, has a see-through press cloth anchored to one end.

The whole shebang folds up into a bantam bag.

Dear Abby: Speak Up, Give Affection

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: My husband hasn't kissed me since 1959. And then it was only a little peck on the cheek. We are both in our 60's and I would enjoy some affection. I hate to bring it up because I think it's the man's place to. I suppose there is always a chance that he is finished with that part of his life. But if he isn't, what a pity to have it wasted. I don't discuss matters of this nature with my friends, so I don't know whether I am expecting too much of my husband or not. Can you tell me?

YOUNG AT HEART
DEAR YOUNG: The physical capabilities of men vary widely, so there is no telling when one is "finished with that part of his life." Forget whose place it is to take the initiative, and you'll have your answer.

DEAR ABBY: I know you are probably sick of complaints against mothers - in - law, but please help me. Four months ago my mother-in-law came to live with us. She's spry, in good health and a good sport. BUT—she monopolizes every conversation. This is no exaggeration. She talks constantly, no matter where, we are; at the dinner table, breakfast table, riding in the car or just sitting in the living room. Her voice drones on and on. All the people in her past are discussed at length, everybody's house, and what they have. And she knows more about any subject than anyone else. She discusses every newspaper article, radio program, and TV show she's ever read, heard or seen. I wouldn't hurt her feelings for the world. And neither would my wife. What, oh what, Dear Abby, can be done?

NO NAME, NATURALLY
DEAR NO: Since she is living with you, your wife must get her aside and tell her gently, but firmly, that she must give someone else a chance to talk. If she "forgets", she should be quietly reminded. But for the sake of your family's happiness, DON'T let this go on.

DEAR ABBY: My husband and I went on a camping trip, at which time the mosquitoes sure had a ball on my ankles. My husband said the bites on my ankles could not possibly have been mosquito bites because the "stinger" or proboscis of a mosquito cannot penetrate an inch-thick woolen sock. I KNOW they were mosquito bites because they were identical to the bites on my arms, and I SAW the mosquitoes biting me there. So who is right?

MRS. W.C.S.

DEAR MRS. W.C.S.: To quote Dr. E.M. Farber, Chief of Dermatology at Standford's School of Medicine: "The husband and wife are both right! Mosquitoes cannot bite through an inch of woolen sock. But they don't have to because mosquitoes not only fly, they climb up socks and crawl down into them, which is apparently what happened. P.S. I hope that is the most serious problem they ever have—the husband and wife, not the mosquitoes."

Comedian Bolts TV Show As Dr. Sam, Bride Arrive

CLEVELAND (AP)—The studio audience applauded enthusiastically, but comedian Henry Morgan walked out of the show when Samuel H. Sheppard and his bride, Ariane, appeared on a television program here Thursday.

"This is shocking," Morgan told newsmen in the wings after walking off the Mike Douglas Show (KYW-TV). "How come he suddenly becomes lovable Dr. Sam?"

Sheppard, who was convicted of the 1954 bludgeon-slaying of his first wife, Marilyn, answered questions from Douglas about his life in Ohio Penitentiary and his hopes for the future. He said he wants to settle in suburban Rocky River and "I hope to reapply for my medical license."

The former osteopath was associated in the family hospital in Bay Village before he was convicted of second-degree murder and sentenced to life imprisonment. His license was suspended by the state medical board in 1957.

Sheppard's two brothers, Drs. Richard and Stephen Sheppard, now operate the hospital.

With Sam and Ariane, whom he married after being released on federal bond last week, was his attorney, F. Lee Bailey.

Morgan is appearing in a summer stock presentation of "Tea-house of the August Moon" being performed in Warren by the Kenley Players.

"What kind of show is this?" Morgan asked, speaking of the program he had walked out on.

"First they put on a man who 10 years ago was convicted of murder then they play a gay tune, and I'm supposed to go on with some jokes. Why, I wouldn't even tell my mother I was on this show."

Told of Morgan's remarks, Bailey threatened to sue for Libel. Bailey has told newsmen he objects to Sheppard being called a convicted murderer, declaring that the federal court order obtained last week wipes Sheppard's conviction off the books.

The state is appealing the order issued by U. S. District Court Judge Carl Weinman of Dayton, who ruled that Sheppard did not receive a fair trial. Sheppard is free on $10,000 bond pending a ruling by the U. S. Sixth Circuit Court of Appeals. That ruling is not expected before fall.

God's Leader Needs Help

 OF THE ISRAELITES

Scripture—Exodus 15:22—18:27.

By R. H. RAMSEY
 THE EXACT route taken by the fleeing Israelites has never been fixed with any certainty.
 When they crossed the Red Sea
 they apparently turned south, for the opening verses assigned to today's lesson find them near Marah, in the Wilderness of Shur, a bleak and barren land where they found only bitter waters.

A miracle is performed here at Marah when Moses turns the bitter waters sweet by casting a newly-cut sapling into them.
 From Marah, the Israelites journey to the Wilderness of Sin, a sandy waste opposite Mount Sinai. Though they were neither hungry nor thirsty, the faithless Israelites complained they had been brought here to die of thirst and starvation.

Once more God intervenes, sending manna, for bread, and quail, for meat, after giving careful instructions for the gathering and use of them.
 Thus, even the matter of food and drink for His chosen people becomes a matter of divine interest, as the Apostle Paul cau-the Israelites, seem to have been awakened to jealousy by the invasion of Israel's millions.

 Deliberately mustering their armies, the Amalekites attacked the laggard rear of the Israelite column. Though faint and weary, the Israelites, under the command of Joshua, fought a day-long, fiercely contested battle. The Hebrews find they are victorious so long as Moses holds 'up his hands; therefore Aaron and Hur stand on each side of him, holding up his hands until the battle is won, an illustration of the sovereignty of Jehovah as the Lord of hosts.

Just before the Israelites arrive at Mount Sinai, Moses is visited by Jethro, his Midianite father-in-law. Jethro finds the great leader sitting in judgment upon his people in numberless petty cases—family quarrels, thefts, accusations, injustices and supposed injustices—which kept him occupied from dawn to well after dark.

Realizing that this is not good for Moses or the people, and that these petty cases will tions us to remember that whether we eat or drink, it is only through God's grace.

From the Wilderness of Sin,
 the Israelites moved to Rephi-dim, the most fertile spot on the Sinai peninsula, where they found no water. Instead of asking Moses to pray to God for relief, they again began complaining, provoking Moses. This time Moses is driven to ask the Lord what he is to do.

In the giving of manna, the people themselves were commanded to gather it in. In the giving of water, Moses alone was to be the instrument for accomplishing the miracle. He was commanded to strike a large rock of Mount Horeb with his rod, and by so doing, God promised enough water would come forth to supply the feverish thirst of the vast multitude of Israelites.

In Exodus 17 we have the first occasion of human opposition to God's purposes for the Israelites since the destruction of the Egyptian hosts. The Amalekites, descendants of Abraham and blood relatives to

U.S. Court Apportioning Hearing Set

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A hearing to determine how a U.S. supreme court decision shall be applied in reapportionment of the Ohio House of Representatives will be held in U.S. District Court in Cincinnati in October.

U. S. Judge Carl A. Weinman of Dayton has told Atty. Gen.
 William B. Saxbe that attorneys for both sides in the suit resulting in the high court decision will have 30 days to file briefs on how they think reapportionment should be made.

Weinman indicated a definite date will be set then for a hearing before a three-judge court.
 The U. S. Supreme Court held the Ohio legislature should be apportioned on the basis of population.

The present system allocates seats in the House on a geographical basis as well as population, allowing each county a representative regardless of population. The Senate is apportioned on population.

The high court decision also invalidates the 1963 Hanna Amendment giving each county a House seat.

Attorneys for James Nolan of Cleveland, who filed the suit attacking Ohio's apportionment system, also have filed an action calling for state officials to reapportion immediately.

No ruling on this has been made.

Another Global Red Parley Seen

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
 Premier Khrushchev's brief stay in Poland may herald yet another international Communist conference and a Soviet last-chance offer to Red China to get in line with the Kremlin.

The Russians now want, quickly, a meeting of 26 Communist parties — those which served on the drafting committee for the 13,000-word Moscow declaration which resulted from the Red world conference of 1960. That declaration was supposed to be a blueprint for world Communist strategy and tactics.

The 26 - member conference would be assigned the job of preparing for a new full-dress world meeting.

A Soviet letter to Peking published July 17 — one of a long series of acrimonious exchanges — says many factional groups within parties around the world, sponsored by the Chinese, claim to be real representatives of the Communists but "neither in theory nor in practice support the general line of the world Communist movement."

The Chinese would try to get such parties into a world meeting, the letter indicates. Khrushchev apparently has taken steps to parry any such attempt. There are parties, the Soviet letter says, which have emerged since 1960 and could be invited, but only those who attended the 1960 meeting and signed the declaration should be considered capable of interpreting it.

That would rule out some groups from underdeveloped areas, where the Chinese are particularly strong among impatient Communists.

The 1960 conference was at-

EARLY NATIONAL ORGANIZATION OF THE ISRAELITES

Scripture—Exodus 15:22—18:27.

By R. H. RAMSEY
 THE EXACT route taken by the fleeing Israelites has never been fixed with any certainty. When they crossed the Red Sea they apparently turned south, for the opening verses assigned to today's lesson find them near Marah, in the wilderness of Shur, a bleak and barren land where they found only bitter waters.

A miracle is performed here at Marah when Moses turns the bitter waters sweet by casting a newly-cut sapling into them. From Marah, the Israelites journey to the Wilderness of Sin, a sandy waste opposite Mount Sinai. Though they were neither hungry nor thirsty, the faithless Israelites complained they had been brought here to die of thirst and starvation.

Once more God intervenes, sending manna, for bread, and quail, for meat, after giving careful instructions for the gathering and use of them. Thus, even the matter of food and drink for His chosen people becomes a matter of divine interest, as the Apostle Paul cautions us to remember that whether we eat or drink, it is only through God's grace.

From the Wilderness of Sin, the Israelites moved to Rephidim, the most fertile spot on the Sinai peninsula, where they found no water. Instead of asking Moses to pray to God for relief, they again began complaining, provoking Moses. This time Moses is driven to ask the Lord what he is to do.

In the giving of manna, the people themselves were commanded to gather it in. In the giving of water, Moses alone was to be the instrument for accomplishing the miracle. He was commanded to strike a large rock of Mount Horeb with his rod, and by so doing, God promised enough water would come forth to supply the feverish thirst of the vast multitude of Israelites.

In Exodus 17 we have the first occasion of human opposition to God's purposes for the Israelites since the destruction of the Egyptian hosts. The Amalekites, descendants of Abraham and blood relatives to the Israelites, seem to have been awakened to jealousy by the invasion of Israel's millions. Deliberately mustering their armies, the Amalekites attacked the laggard rear of the Israelite column. Though faint and weary, the Israelites, under the command of Joshua, fought a day-long, fiercely contested battle. The Hebrews find they are victorious so long as Moses holds 'up his hands; therefore Aaron and Hur stand on each side of him, holding up his hands until the battle is won, an illustration of the sovereignty of Jehovah as the Lord of hosts.

Just before the Israelites arrive at Mount Sinai, Moses is visited by Jethro, his Midianite father-in-law. Jethro finds the great leader sitting in judgment upon his people in numberless petty cases—family quarrels, thefts, accusations, injustices and supposed injustices—which kept him occupied from dawn to well after dark.

Realizing that this is not good for Moses or the people, and that these petty cases will only increase instead of decreasing, Jethro suggests that Moses, with God's help, restrict himself to the legislative part of governing his people. Instead of dealing with individual cases, Moses should only prescribe for the people's guidance and for the settlement of these cases.

Then he should select just, able, honorable men to judge the Israelites in groups of ten, fifty, hundreds and thousands, setting up a judicial system which would suffice in all ordinary disputes among the people.

It is clear that Moses accepted Jethro's advice and carried out his suggestion. While some Biblical commentators maintain that Moses made a grave mistake in so doing, it would seem that God sent Jethro to Moses with the proposal, in answer to some unspoken prayer. Like many of us today, Moses failed to see the forest for the trees. Involved in so many little details, he had no time to wrestle with the larger problem in which he was intimately concerned.

U.S. Court Apportioning Hearing Set
 COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A hearing to determine how a U.S. supreme court decision shall be applied in reapportionment of the Ohio House of Representatives will be held in U.S. District Court in Cincinnati in October.

U. S. Judge Carl A. Weinman of Dayton has told Atty. Gen. William B. Saxbe that attorneys for both sides in the suit resulting in the high court decision will have 30 days to file briefs on how they think reapportionment should be made.

Weinman indicated a definite date will be set then for a hearing before a three-judge court.

The U. S. Supreme Court held the Ohio legislature should be apportioned on the basis of population.

The present system allocates seats in the House on a geographical basis as well as population, allowing each county a representative regardless of population. The Senate is apportioned on population.

The high court decision also invalidates the 1963 Hanna Amendment giving each county a House seat.

Attorneys for James Nolan of Cleveland, who filed the suit attacking Ohio's apportionment system, also have filed an action calling for state officials to reapportion immediately.

No ruling on this has been made.

 Premier Khrushchev's brief stay in Poland may herald yet another international Communist conference and a Soviet last-chance offer to Red China to get in line with the Kremlin.

The Russians now want, quickly, a meeting of 26 Communist parties — those which served on the drafting committee for the 13,000-word Moscow declaration which resulted from the Red world conference of 1960. That declaration was supposed to be a blueprint for world Communist strategy and tactics.

The 26 - member conference would be assigned the job of preparing for a new full-dress world meeting.

A Soviet letter to Peking published July 17 — one of a long series of acrimonious exchanges — says many factional groups within parties around the world, sponsored by the Chinese, claim to be real representatives of the Communists but "neither in theory nor in practice support the general line of the world Communist movement."

The Chinese would try to get such parties into a world meeting, the letter indicates. Khrushchev apparently has taken steps to parry any such attempt. There are parties, the Soviet letter says, which have emerged since 1960 and could be invited, but only those who attended the 1960 meeting and signed the declaration should be considered capable of interpreting it.

That would rule out some groups from underdeveloped areas, where the Chinese are particularly strong among impatient Communists.

The 1960 conference was attended by 81 Communist parties of which 26 were assigned to draft the declaration.

The new letter says a meeting of the 26 to prepare for a bigger meeting is "urgent" in view of harm done the world Communist movement by Peking's attitude. The Chinese have said a world conference could wait four or five years, but Khrushchev has no intention of giving the Chinese an opportunity to pick up strength over a long period.

The Chinese apparently think that by putting off the meeting they can increase their supporters "and turn them into weapons of their own policy, thus creating favorable conditions for themselves," the Moscow letter said.

There is strong indication in the letter that the Kremlin is offering the Chinese their last chance to end the feud.

The letter implies the Chinese, if they continue to obstruct the Soviet drive for a new world meeting, will be responsible for whatever happens.

Auto, Rail Industries' Profits Zoom

NEW YORK (AP)—The big three automakers are earning more money than ever before.

General Motors Corp. and Chrysler Corp. reported Thursday that profits and sales soared to record levels in the second quarter and first half of this year. Ford Motor Co. issued a similar report earlier in the week.

The Big Three's reports of great prosperity came while they were negotiating with the United Auto Workers on new labor contracts.

General Motors earned $602 million, equal to $2.11 a share, in the three months ended June 30, compared with $464 million, or $1.62 a share, in the second quarter of 1963. The previous record was $536 million, or $1.87 a share, in the 1964 first quarter.

First half earnings of the No. 1 automaker totaled $1,138,000,000, or $3.98 a share, compared with $878 million, or $3.07 a share, in the 1963 first half, which was the previous record.

Sales totaled $5,082,000,000 in the 1964 second quarter against $4,516,000,000 a year earlier. First half sales of $9,868,000,000 compared with $8,663,000,000 in the 1963 first half, the former record.

Chrysler, third ranking automaker, earned $60.6 million, equal to $1.61 a share, in the three months ended June 30 against $41.7 million, or $1.13 a share, a year earlier. First half earnings totaled $114.4 million, or $3.05 a share, compared with $77.9 million, or $2.11 a share, in the 1963 first half.

Chrysler sales in the second quarter rose to $1,071,000,000 from $890 million a year earlier and in the first half to $2,062,000,000 from $1,687,000,000.

Ford's profits in the second quarter amounted to $179.7 million, equal to $1.63 a share, on sales of $2,672,600,000. This compares with $35.9 million, or $1.41 a share, on sales of $2,344,700,000.

In the first half, Ford's earnings were $324 million, or $2.93 a share, compared with $277.2 million, or $2.51 a share. Sales rose to $5,088,200,000 from $4,434,100,000.

LET'S EXPLORE OHIO STATE PARKS

A small creek along the border of northeastern Ohio and Pennsylvania, known by the Indian name of Pymatuning Creek, now has a large role in the outdoor life of people of two states.

By damming this creek, the vast 14,650-acre Pymatuning Reservoir was formed to provide Ohio with one of its most popular State Parks, as a side benefit to its original purpose.

Both Ohio and Pennsylvania wild life divisions and parks divisions share in the care of this water recreational area.

Some of the mid-west's best walleye fishing is provided by Pymatuning Reservoir, and bass, crappies and muskies make up the catches of fishermen on these waters.

Ohio's Pymatuning State Park offers boating, picnicking and camping facilities and there are a number of State-operated vacation cabins available for rental.

Many Ohio motorists follow U.S. Routes 6 and 322 to reach the park facilities of Pymatuning State Park.

Gov. Frank Morrison of Nebraska, chairman of the Midwest Governors Conference and the presiding officer at today's affair, said it was the first time that Democratic and Republican senators and governors had arranged to sit down to such a meeting to further their economic development.

Sen. Frank J. Lausche, D-Ohio, who made the arrangements for the conference at Morrison's request, said the southwest, southeast and the west coast areas have been receiving more than their proportionate share of government contracts.

"The senators and governors will try and coordinate their efforts in ending the erosion that is being suffered in the economy of the midwest states," Lausche said.

"Statistics show that the midwest states, which are producing the scientists, engineers and doctors of philosophy, are losing them to other areas of the country which have been in receipt of research and development and electronics contracts from the federal government."

"In my opinion, it is the definite responsibility of the midwest governors and senators to definitely make known to the federal government what is happening and not stand idly by while the economy is being whittled away."

Rhodes and other Ohio officials also were to meet today with U.S. Secretary of Commerce Luther Hodges.

An aide said the purpose of the meeting is to discuss community relations aspects of the new Civil Rights Law.

Also expected at the meeting was Dr. Arthur Peterson, commissioner of the Ohio Civil Rights Commission.

Accompanying Rhodes to the governor's meeting was Development Director George Wilson and his deputy, Fred Neuen-schwander.

Auto, Rail Industries' Profits Zoom

NEW YORK (AP)—The big three automakers are earning more money than ever before.

General Motors Corp. and Chrysler Corp. reported Thursday that profits and sales soared to record levels in the second quarter and first half of this year. Ford Motor Co. issued a similar report earlier in the week.

General Motors' sales and earnings were the highest ever reported by any company.

Its chairman, Frederic G. Donner, and president, John F. Gordon, attributed the surge to expansion in economic activity and resulting consumer confidence.

The Big Three's reports of great prosperity came while they were negotiating with the United Auto Workers on new labor contracts.

General Motors earned $602 million, equal to $2.11 a share, in the three months ended June 30, compared with $464 million, or $1.62 a share, in the second quarter of 1963. The previous record was $536 million, or $1.87 a share, in the 1964 first quarter.

First half earnings of the No. 1 automaker totaled $1,138,000,000, or $3.98 a share, compared with $878 million, or $3.07 a share, in the 1963 first half, which was the previous record.

Sales totaled $5,082,000,000 in the 1964 second quarter against $4,516,000,000 a year earlier. First half sales of $9,868,000,000 compared with $8,663,000,000 in the 1963 first half, the former record.

Chrysler, third ranking automaker, earned $60.6 million, equal to $1.61 a share, in the three months ended June 30 against $41.7 million, or $1.13 a share, a year earlier. First half earnings totaled $114.4 million, or $3.05 a share, compared with $77.9 million, or $2.11 a share, in the 1963 first half.

Chrysler sales in the second quarter rose to $1,071,000,000 from $890 million a year earlier and in the first half to $2,062,000,000 from $1,687,000,000.

Ford's profits in the second quarter amounted to $179.7 million, equal to $1.63 a share, on sales of $2,672,600,000. This compares with $55.9 million, or $1.41 a share, on sales of $2,544,700,000.

In the first half, Ford's earnings were $324 million, or $2.93 a share, compared with $277.2 million, or $2.51 a share. Sales rose to $5,088,200,000 from $4,454,100,000.

Ohio Joins Midwest Bid For More U.S. Contracts

WASHINGTON (AP) — Governors and senators from 12 midwest states including Ohio met today in a bipartisan effort to win more government research and development contracts for their area.

3 Ohioans Die In New York Plane Mishap

HARRIMAN, N. Y. (AP) — Two Ohio businessmen and the mayor of Mansfield, Ohio, are dead as a result of a plane crash near the former estate of ex-Gov. Averill Harriman.

Killed in the crash Thursday were Charles Scott, 50-year-old mayor of Mansfield and father of five children, James McInty, 56, also of Mansfield and pilot of the plane, and Edmund Brumagin, 50, of Novelty, Ohio.

McInty formerly operated a siding business in Mansfield. Brumagin was president of Super Die, Inc. of Cleveland Shrine Band in Cleveland.

Police said the single-engine Cessna 172 Skylark had made an emergency landing on the Harriman estate, apparently to get gasoline. McInty was trying to take off on a dirt road at the time of the crash.

The plane hit a tree, continued down the road some 175 yards, hit more trees, and then overturned, authorities said. McInty and Brumagin died at the scene and Scott died five hours later in a Tuxedo, N.Y. hospital.

Rhodes and other Ohio officials also were to meet today with U.S. Secretary of Commerce Luther Hodges.

An aide said the purpose of the meeting is to discuss community relations aspects of the new Civil Rights Law.

Cleveland Rackets Aide Nabbed Again

CLEVELAND (AP) — Authorities prepared today to have another go at putting rackets figure Alex (Shondor) Birns behind bars — this time on a charge of carrying on a game of chance.

Birns, 56, and Edward Keeling, 37, his longtime associate in the gambling rackets here, were arrested Thursday afternoon in a raid by seven Cleveland and Parma policemen.

The police forced a door to an office in a two-story commercial building at 5715 Brookpark Road in Parma and found Birns and Keeling seated at adding machines with clearing-house slips nearby, Sgt. Thomas Dever of the Cleveland police said.

"Birns was noticeably upset," Dever said. "Keeling was very calm and collected. Neither would answer our questions."

Police said they found $490 in cash hidden behind some display material, but neither Birns nor Keeling claimed ownership.

Capt. Clarence Benedict of the Parma police said the charges against Birns and Keeling—later freed on $500 bond each—would be taken to a Cuyahoga County Grand Jury, probably next Tuesday, bypassing Parma Municipal Court.

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — While experts assessed the results of a successful space glider test another launch team today prepared the Ranger 7 spacecraft for a shot at the moon on Monday.

A delta-winged Project Asset craft survived a fiery 12,000-mile an hour ballistic flight from Cape Kennedy Wednesday in a test of materials for maneuverable manned vehicles of the future.

After the scorching 25-minute dive through the atmosphere, Asset parachuted into the Atlantic Ocean about 1,650 miles southeast of here and was kept afloat by inflatable bags.

The winged craft will be flown later this week to the McDonnell Aircraft Co., St. Louis, for study by the engineers who developed it.

Ranger 7 is intended to make a 68-hour, quarter-million-mile journey to the moon to snap several thousand closeup pictures for the Apollo man-to-moon project.

Officials hope Ranger 7 will provide the United States with its first moon launching success. This nation has tried and failed 12 times since 1958 to send unmanned spacecraft around, near or to the moon.

Greek Citizens Leaving Turkey

ISTANBUL, Turkey (AP)—They impatiently wait each morning for the doors of the old Greek consulate to open. They crowd into the vaulted anteroom, quietly talking, arguing or occasionally crying.

They are Greek citizens ordered to leave Turkey.

Many of them were born in Turkey. Many have never even visited Greece.

So far, Turkey has ordered more than 800 of Istanbul's estimated 9,000 Greek nationals to pack up and leave. The Greek community believes all will be forced to go eventually.

The deportation, which began last March, has sent shock waves through the estimated 50,000 Turkish citizens of Greek descent residing in the greater Istanbul area.

They fear some kind of reprisals against them also. The Turkish government denies this, saying that as Turkish citizens they enjoy full citizenship rights and protection under the constitution.

The Turkish government denies that the Cyprus conflict has any direct connection with the evacuation orders. The expelled Greeks have been engaging in activities detrimental to national interests, the Turks charge.

Greek officials laugh at this. Sources close to the Greek consulate say the first lists of 409 included nine persons over 80 years old, 92 over 70 and five deceased.

The Greek national usually has a week to settle his affairs and depart. He is permitted to take his clothing, 200 Turkish lira—about $22—plus his transportation ticket.

He must leave his home, his furniture, his business. His bank accounts are blocked, his safe-deposit vaults are sealed. He must pay his 1964 income tax.

The trouble is, say the Greeks, no one wants to buy their businesses. Or if they do, the price offered is ridiculous. The government, in effect, assumes control.

"This anti-Greek policy is suicide for Turkey," says one high-placed Greek who declined use of his name. "Turkey needs financial aid from the rest of the world now. She needs new investment. But who would want to invest money in Turkey if she continues to follow this anti-business, Xenophobic policy?"

A Turkish government spokesman said this charge was baseless.

"On the contrary," he said, "the Turkish economy incurred great losses through fortunes smuggled out of Turkey by Greek nationals through unlawful channels."

"We did the same thing in Athens when the Greek economy seemed in danger," a Greek says. "The Greeks would keep their money here if it had a chance to make a profit."

The Greeks say the Turks also have been harassing the community in many ways, including newspaper attacks, breaking windows in some Greek homes and schools, anti-Greek signs chalked on walls, threatening letters, and measures taken against the Eastern Orthodox patriarchate and Greek private schools.

The Greek nationals have many friends among the Turks who express sympathy for their predicament. But the Turks claim the Greeks have been trying to get the best of both worlds—living in Istanbul, which is cheaper than Athens, and avoiding military service of both countries.

Johnson Hails New Era of Cooperation

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson says that the nation is "entering into a new era of cooperation between government and business and labor and the many groups which form this nation."

Johnson, speaking to 264 of the nation's top business leaders at a White House luncheon, spoke of unprecedented prosperity and cooperation to continue economic growth.

"This combination of rapid expansion and real stability is not only a great achievement," he said, "it is a great lesson. It teaches us that if we eliminate fear and hostility and distrust among ourselves—if we work together in a partnership of moderation—then the history of these years can be only the first page in a new era of American abundance."

The President added that this "partnership of moderation" also included "a duty to provide equal justice to all Americans."

"To fail to observe this duty attacks the entire structure of ordered liberty on which the life of this nation depends," he said.

Urging the businessmen to use their influence, "which you possess in such abundant measure," Johnson added:

"I did not become president to preside over mounting violence and deepening disorder. I fully intend to use all the resources I have to make sure that those who claim rights—and those who deny them—bend their passions to peaceful obedience to law."

LEGISLATURE CANDIDATE AT 16—Leonard Tagg, only 16 years old and a candidate for the Massachusetts House of Representatives, gets his nomination papers signed by Mrs. Leo DiAngelo in Weymouth. This is the first instance of a 16-year-old running. He is five years shy of voting age, but there's nothing in law to stop him from being a candidate.

Mets Revert To Old Form, Redlegs Win

CINCINNATI (AP)—The Cincinnati Reds as last defeated the New York Mets as the cellar-dwellers in the National League reverted to form with four errors and two unearned runs.

But the 5-4 victory Thursday night wasn't exactly easy. Reliever Bill Henry rescued the Reds by snuffing out a ninth inning rally in which the Mets scored a run.

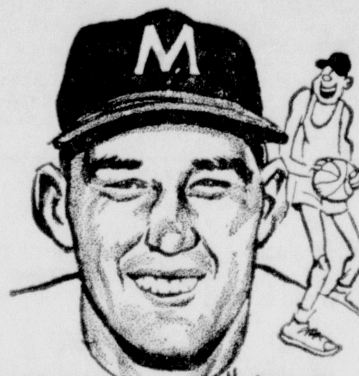

Larry Elliot, who slugged a two-run homer for the Mets in the fifth, hit into a game-ending force play with the bases loaded.

Earlier Reds Manager Fred Hutchinson commented, "Our guys (pitchers) are making Larry Elliot look like another Babe Ruth." Elliot hit a homer in each of the three-game series here.

The victory snapped the Reds' string of five straight losses to the Mets and it was one that Cincinnati needed as Philadelphia widened its first place lead and Pittsburgh moved in on third place Cincinnati.

Jim Maloney got the decision and evened his record at 9-9 although he was required to leave in the sixth because of a pulled back muscle. The Mets previously had beaten Maloney twice.

EDITORS NOTE—Edgar Buchanan, a veteran character actor, is currently playing a lovable old rascal in CBS' popular "Petticoat Junction." Long before he was an actor, however, he was a professional man, and here says a few words in defense of his favorite doctors.

By EDGAR BUCHANAN
For Cynthia Lowry

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Now that lawyers, surgeons, psychiatrists, clergymen, newspapermen, soldiers, schoolteachers and detectives have all been glorified by television, I'm waiting impatiently for the business to do right by us dentists.

It's a matter of loyalty with me. After graduating from the North Pacific Dental College in Portland, I practiced for 10 years in Eugene, Ore., before turning actor, and I don't like to see my old dodge slighted.

I like acting fine whether it's playing the sheriff in a horse opera or Uncle Joe in "Petticoat Junction." But sometimes I have a sentimental year to get my hand on a drill and my knee on a patient again.

You can understand why one of my favorite roles was the dentist I played in a picture called "Texas," with Glenn Ford and Bill Holden.

I was offered that kind of part only one other time. That was for another Western, but I was supposed to depict the dentist as a drunk, so I turned down the job. It was against my principles.

Anyway, to get back to the theme of this essay, a dentist would make a dandy television hero. What irks me most is that dentists have always been considered fair game for gags and comedy skits, but nobody ever gives us the realistic dramatic treatment we deserve.

Dental offices are serious places. I had patients in mine who accused me of killing them there.

Actually, I had a real thrill one night last week when I thought that television had finally come up with a dental epic.

I was scanning the program listings for the evening in my newspaper when I spotted something called "Probe" and starring Dr. Alfred E. Burke. With that title it looked like a sure thing, so you can imagine my disappointment when it turned out to be a guy lecturing on water pollution.

Then I noticed a listing that read "Oral Roberts." Anybody with a name like that has just got to be a dentist. But I tuned in and discovered a revival meeting.

Now comes the happy ending. In the theater listings on the next page I caught sight of an ad for a picture called "A Yank in Viet Nam," starring Marshall Thompson. Now there's one I don't plan to miss. That Thompson is a young, husky, good-looking fella. He's good for our professional image. Looks something like me, too.

At least those movie moguls are giving us dentists a break.

Ohio Fishing Conditions Are Improving

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio's fishermen have better conditions to look forward to this weekend in comparison to recent weeks when many lakes and streams were muddied by rains.

The Division of Wildlife says fishing conditions have improved throughout the state, and give this breakdown by districts:

Central — Bass, bluegills and catfish are biting well in the following lakes: Delaware, Knox, Indian and Mount Gilead. Streams in the area are mostly clear or clearing.

Northwest — Best spots here are: Riley and Bucyrus reservoirs, Charles Mill, Clearfork and Pleasant Hill and Attica reservoir. Most species of fish are being taken together with scattered walleyes from Clearfork. Streams are clear but fishing generally poor.

Northeast — Conditions here are fair but fishing pressure is rather low. Here are the best possibilities: Burr Oak, Piedmont, Tycoon, Seneca, Hocking, Jackson, Forked Run and strip mine ponds. Bass and bluegills are doing fairly well in most of these areas and a few muskies have been caught in Piedmont. Stream fishing is fair in the Muskingum, Sunfish and Paint creeks.

Southwest — The following lakes are in fair to good condition: Clark, Hosterman, Spring Valley and Grand Lake — St. Marys. Bass, Carp and catfish are biting. Streams are rated as poor.

Sandusky Bay and Lake Erie — In the bay, perch, catfish, white bass and sheepshead are doing fairly well. Around the island area, perch, white bass, some smallmouth bass, sheepshead and some walleyes are being taken.

EDITORS NOTE—Edgar Buchanan, a veteran character actor, is currently playing a lovable old rascal in CBS' popular "Petticoat Junction." Long before he was an actor, however, he was a professional man, and here says a few words in defense of his favorite doctors.

By EDGAR BUCHANAN

For Cynthia Lowry
HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Now that lawyers, surgeons, psychiatrists, clergymen, newspapermen, soldiers, schoolteachers and detectives have all been glorified by television, I'm waiting impatiently for the business to do right by us dentists.

It's a matter of loyalty with me. After graduating from the North Pacific Dental College in Portland, I practiced for 10 years in Eugene, Ore., before turning actor, and I don't like to see my old dodge slighted.

I like acting fine whether it's playing the sheriff in a horse opera or Uncle Joe in "Petticoat Junction." But sometimes I have a sentimental yen to get my hand on a drill and my knee on a patient again.

You can understand why one of my favorite roles was the dentist I played in a picture called "Texas," with Glenn Ford and Bill Holden.

I was offered that kind of part only one other time. That was for another Western, but I was supposed to depict the dentist as a drunk, so I turned down the job. It was against my principles.

Anyway, to get back to the theme of this essay, a dentist would make a dandy television hero. What irks me most is that dentists have always been considered fair game for gags and comedy skits, but nobody ever gives us the realistic dramatic treatment we deserve.

Dental offices are serious places. I had patients in mine who accused me of killing them there.

Actually, I had a real thrill one night last week when I thought that television had finally come up with a dental epic.

I was scanning the program listings for the evening in my newspaper when I spotted something called "Probe" and starring Dr. Alfred E. Burke. With that title it looked like a sure thing, so you can imagine my disappointment when it turned out to be a guy lecturing on water pollution.

Then I noticed a listing that read "Oral Roberts." Anybody with a name like that has just got to be a dentist. But I tuned in and discovered a revival meeting.

Now comes the happy ending. In the theater listings on the next page I caught sight of an ad for a picture called "A Yank in Viet Nam," starring Marshall Thompson. Now there's one I don't plan to miss. That Thompson is a young, husky, good-looking fella. He's good for our professional image. Looks something like me, too.

That was her last role at the Met — on March 5, 1958.

Business Briefs

Pittsburgh Plate Glass Co. sales and earnings for the first six months of 1964 were higher than for the same period in 1963, according to David G. Hill, president.

Hill said that first half sales were $402,016,000 or eight per cent higher than $371,686,000 for the comparable period of 1963. Earnings for the six month period this year were $21,964,000, equivalent to $2.07 per share and up 9 per cent over $20,063,000, or $1.89 per share for the first six months of 1963.

President Hill said that the trend of sales volume and of earnings has been upward since the beginning of the year, but second quarter earnings were three cents per share below the second quarter of 1963. Last year's second quarter benefited from a carry-over of low volume caused by unusually bad weather in the first quarter of 1963.

Second quarter sales were $215,143,000, compared with $205,296,000 in the same period of 1963. Second quarter earnings were $13,212,000 equivalent to $1.25 per share compared to $13,541,000 or $1.28 per share last year.

Columbus and Southern Ohio Electric Co. had common share earnings of $10,530,000 for the 12 months ended June 30, 1964, compared with $10,601,000 a year earlier.

Harry M. Miller, president, said this amounted to $1.88 a share, based on 5,600,000 common shares now outstanding, following the two for one split which became effective May 1, 1964. Based on the common shares now outstanding earnings per share for the twelve months ended May 31, 1963 would have been $1.89.

Operating revenues for the same period were $68,221,000 compared to $66,597,000, a 2.4 per cent gain.

Operating expenses were also up 2.4 per cent, from $51,032,000 in 1963 to $52,677,000 for the most recent twelve months.

tary George Reedy said Johnson "would not do anything to incite or inflame tensions."

Three national Negro leaders, meeting in Vicksburg, Miss., say they hope the Johnson-Goldwater conference won't result in an agreement to keep the civil rights issue out of the presidential campaign.

The three leaders—the Rev. Dr. Martin Luther King, James Farmer of the Congress of Racial Equality, and John Lewis of the Student Non-Violent Coordinating Committee—are in Mississippi to boost the predominantly Negro Freedom Democratic party.

"It would be a real tragedy if the civil rights issue is kept out of the campaign," said King.

All three said they considered Goldwater "an unacceptable candidate."

"It is utterly impossible to keep civil rights out of the campaign," said Farmer. He said he favored the meeting between the President and Goldwater because he hoped the presidential race "doesn't develop into a mud-slunging campaign."

Lewis said he felt the civil rights issue should go before the voters.

The trio held a news conference after a five-hour strategy session at Tougaloo College near Jackson on the Freedom Democratic party.

The Freedom Democrats hope to unseat the regular, all-white state delegation at next month's Democratic National Convention, which opens Aug. 24 at Atlantic City, N.J.

Business Briefs

Pittsburgh Plate Glass Co. sales and earnings for the first six months of 1964 were higher than for the same period in 1963, according to David G. Hill, president.

Hill said that first half sales were $402,016,000 or eight per cent higher than $371,686,000 for the comparable period of 1963. Earnings for the six month period this year were $21,964,000, equivalent to $2.07 per share and up 9 per cent over $20,063,000, or $1.89 per share for the first six months of 1963.

President Hill said that the trend of sales volume and of earnings has been upward since the beginning of the year, but second quarter earnings were three cents per share below the second quarter of 1963. Last year's second quarter benefited from a carry-over of low volume caused by unusually bad weather in the first quarter of 1963.

Second quarter sales were $215,143,000, compared with $205,296,000 in the same period of 1963. Second quarter earnings were $13,212,000 equivalent to $1.25 per share compared to $13,541,000 or $1.28 per share last year.

Columbus and Southern Ohio Electric Co. had common share earnings of $10,530,000 for the 12 months ended June 30, 1964, compared with $10,601,000 a year earlier.

Harry M. Miller, president, said this amounted to $1.88 a share, based on 5,600,000 common shares now outstanding, following the two for one split which became effective May 1, 1964. Based on the common shares now outstanding earnings per share for the twelve months ended May 31, 1963 would have been $1.89.

Operating revenues for the same period were $68,221,000 compared to $66,597,000, a 2.4 per cent gain.

Operating expenses were also up 2.4 per cent, from $51,032,000 in 1963 to $52,677,000 for the most recent twelve months.
